Three Are Fatally Hurt And One Is Injured When Auto Hits Locomotive

ERIE IS SCENE OF MISHAP TODAY

Accident Occurs On Grade Crossing, Driver Thrown From Auto May Live

(International News Service)
ERIE, Pa., April 18.—Two women and a man were killed and another woman was injured today when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a Pennsylvania locomotive at a grade crossing here.

The Dead:
Mrs. Flora Edith Nichols Noal, 48; Mrs. Alma Delavern, 38, both of Erie, and John A. Forsberg, 40, of East Westerville.

Mrs. May S. Johnson, 32, daughter of Mrs. Noal, driver of the car, suffered shock and body bruises.

The automobile, travelling at a fair rate of speed, struck the pilot of the locomotive which was pulling a caboose down to the bay front. As it struck, the machine swerved to the left, overturned and rolled over on the tracks in front of the engine.

Thrown From Car
Mrs. Johnson was thrown from the car by the impact but the other occupants of the machine were pinned in the wreckage and dragged down the tracks before Engineer L. A. Schaller could bring the engine to a stop.

Mrs. Noal was killed instantly. Mrs. Delavern and Forsberg were rushed to the hospital where Mrs. Delavern was pronounced dead upon arrival. Forsberg died a few minutes later.

Coroner Hanley, who immediately began an investigation, said he was advised by eye-witnesses that the engine was travelling at about six miles an hour when the accident occurred. Hanley said he would call an inquest for Monday morning.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Gasoline prices are the lowest in years, local motorists assert. Some gasoline stations are charging as low as 12 cents per gallon for motor gasoline, which with the three-cent gas tax makes the price but 15 cents per gallon.

Many local residents are helping out in the present unemployment situation by making needed repairs on their homes. PA New has observed many new porches, new steps, and other minor repairs being made on local residences. Some new homes are also being erected here.

The Kurtz property at Croton avenue and East Washington street is doing its best to add to the delightful spring weather by sending forth blooms in all shades of the rainbow. Many admiring glances are cast this way by passersby.

Gardeners were out in full force Friday, both in the city and in the country. Cleaning off the debris of winter and getting the seedlings in seemed to be the vogue every place one looked.

PA New saw his first "straw" on the season on a man downtown this morning.

Residents of the Highland avenue district, particularly between Lincoln and Moody avenues, are concerned.

PROMISE ARREST IN BREWER KIDNAPING

(International News Service)
MONROE, Wis., April 18.—With Detective William Cusack of the Chicago police department promising at least one arrest before night-fall, local authorities today were convinced that the kidnaping of Fred J. Blumer, local brewer, was a case similar to that which sent Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb into life imprisonment several years ago.

In other words, Blumer's story of his captivity since April 9 led police to believe he was in the hands of "thrill" captors instead of professional kidnappers.

Blumer early today was in bed and asleep under the influence of an opiate administered by his physician and was not expected to be able to talk until later in the day. Shortly after he was delivered up by the kidnappers, however, he was interviewed by Detective Cusack, who said that he thought he would be able to get the gang that abducted the brewer.

Before leaving on a secret trip downstate, Cusack stated he had a "line" on the kidnappers two days ago, but was afraid to make a raid on their lair for fear they would kill him. He was noncommittal on the theory that the kidnappers were highly educated youths seeking a "thrill" and did not deny the report that Martin O'Leary and Roy Harschak, Chicago extortionists, were the men he and his squad were after.

Jack-Estelle Battle Today

Attorneys For Jack Dempsey And Estelle Taylor To Meet In Hotel

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, April 18.—The marital battle between Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion boxer, and Estelle Taylor, screen actress was scheduled to be fought in a hotel here today.

Jack will be represented by Dr. Robert Burns, an attorney he engaged while arranging for a divorce at Reno. Attorney Joseph Scott, who has been assisting Miss Taylor in her divorce plans, will serve as her spokesman.

Although it is reported that Dempsey intended to be present at the lawyers' session, this report was not substantiated.

Since Jack recently declared that "whatever Estelle does is her own business," he had gone into hiding at Reno, leaving his lawyer to do his talking.

Passenger Train Is Wrecked As It Plows Into Derailed Freight

TWO ENGINEMEN KILLED IN CRASH

Many Of Passengers Are Somewhat Injured In Collision, None Seriously

(International News Service)
ALTOONA, Pa., April 18.—Wrecking crews today were rushed to Spruce Block Station, 22 miles east of here, scene of a spectacular crash last night when two members of the crew of the Pennsylvania Express, New York to St. Louis flyer of the Pennsylvania railroad, were killed and 28 passengers reported injured, one seriously.

The express, travelling at a fast rate of speed, ploughed into nine derailed freight cars at the Block Station. W. J. Keane, engineer of the passenger train, and his fireman, R. E. Look, were scalded to death in the engine cab by escaping steam. J. J. Eckelcamp of Huntingdon, Pa., a railroad employee, was the most seriously injured. He was riding in the first coach and suffered injuries to his spine when the coach left the rails.

The dispatcher's office here announced this morning that all of the injured had been treated at the scene and continued to their destinations.

Injured In Two Coaches.
All injured passengers were riding in the combination car and front seats of the first coach. Despite reports that none was injured seriously, a special train carrying doctors and nurses was made up in the Pennsylvania yards here and rushed to the scene. The hospital train returned here this morning, bearing the injured.

Responsibility for the crash was not immediately fixed. First reports were that the crew of the freight train, nine cars of which had been derailed, did not have time to dispatch a rear end flagman to warn the approaching express.

The terrific impact as the express ploughed into the derailed freight cars sent the engine, tender, a combination coach and baggage car and the first coach of the Panhandle Express careening from the rails.

The tender and combination coach overturned, but the first coach remained upright, although derailed. Most of the injured, according to first reports, suffered from shock.

Passengers and the crews of both trains aided in extricating the injured. All cars of the express were plunged into darkness by the crash.

Chas. L. Huff Killed Friday

New Castle Railroad Man Knocked From Box Car At Ellwood

WAS SETTING BRAKE ON TOP OF CAR

Charles L. Huff, 48, of 336 Moody avenue, this city, was instantly killed about 5 o'clock Friday evening while shifting cars in the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie yards at Ellwood City. Mr. Huff fell from the top of a box car to the tracks, where the wheels passed over him.

Charles Huff was engineer of a train of four cars which were being switched. Mr. Huff was cutting off the cars. He had cut off one car which had been taken down to the boiler house. This left three cars attached to the engine, which were to be switched on another track.

Huff uncoupled the three cars from the engine and then climbed up on the car which had been next to the engine to manipulate the brake, as the cars were shoved on the siding.

Down the track a short distance were some box cars and a gondola. From Huff's position at the brake on top of the car he could see the gondola, which is a low car. It is believed that he had not noticed the gondola before he mounted the box car, or if he had, he may have forgotten it. The indications were (Continued On Page Two)

President And Guests Enjoy Fishing Outing

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
HOOVER CAMP, Luray, Va., April 18.—President Hoover and his male guests lost no time in getting into their fishing togs today and pushing far out into the Rapidan to fish.

The party arrived here at 10:30 a. m. After a delightful motor trip from the Capital, it was an ideal spring day and the blossoms of the apple and plum trees in the Shenandoah Valley presented a picturesque picture that prompted comments from Mr. and Mrs. Hoover.

The President and his companions remained out in the stream fully an hour before they were called to the lodge for lunch. They set out again immediately afterward.

Meanwhile the women guests lounged about the lodge and took walks about the grounds.

It is probable the party will not return to Washington until Monday morning.

FRANCE RECOGNIZES NEW REPUBLIC

PARIS, April 18.—Alfonso XIII, refugee Bourbon monarch who fled to Europe's political capital to watch for favorable developments in his native land, was confronted with a delicate situation today as France officially reorganized the republic of Spain within earshot of the uninvited visitor here who maintains he is still "King of all Spaniards."

Duke Of Toledo
Under the name of the Duke of Toledo, formerly used by him when traveling incognito, Alfonso remained with his family at a local hotel, apparently abandoning his original plan of continuing to London to take up residence. It was understood he decided to mark time in Paris until after June, keeping in close touch with Spanish events in the hope that forthcoming elections across the Pyrenees will bear out his convictions that the country remains monarchistic at heart.

The Republican French Government so far has studiously avoided formal notice of the royal family's (Continued On Page Five)

Caravan Moves Toward Capital

Bizarre Cavalcade Of Unemployed Departs From Pittsburgh Today

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 18.—A bizarre cavalcade of unemployed, afoot and aboard dilapidated motor trucks, moved out of Pittsburgh today with the avowed intention of proceeding to Harrisburg to seek relief from Governor Pinchot and the legislature.

More than two hundred men and women were in the line of march as it moved slowly eastward. Speeches by Communist and unemployment organization leaders preceded formation of the marchers.

Warned by leaders that the march probably would consume several days and perhaps a week, most of those in the "hunger march" came prepared with baskets of food to sustain themselves for the 200 mile trek eastward.

"Officers" of the "army" announced that a meeting would be held in Johnstown tonight, another in Lewistown Sunday and a third in Harrisburg on Monday—provided the cavalcade reaches the capital in three days.

Numerous unemployed miners were in the marching throng, a score of unemployed bituminous coal workers making up their own delegation from the Avella Mine fields.

General Exodus Of Americans From Interior Of Nicaragua Under Way

By J. A. RYAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

COLON, Panama, April 18.—Rumblings of discontent over the refusal of the United States Government to give American nationals throughout Nicaragua military protection from the ravages of bandits were heard here today as the U. S. S. Rochester, flagship of the special service squadron, headed for Bluefields to combat the growing insurgent menace.

Messages from Bluefields states officials of American concerns with headquarters in Bluefields and Puerto Cabezas were keenly disappointed over this change of policy on the part of Washington.

Some of the American businessmen, messengers to Bluefields declared, took the attitude that this stand on the part of Washington would not only endanger American residents of the country but also embolden the rebels and heighten the possibilities of Augustino Sandino's anarchistic hordes gaining the upper hand.

Bandits Active
Latest reports from Bluefields stated bandit activity was continuing, all along the eastern coast of Nicaragua. Plantation workers were fortifying their holdings against expected onslaughts, and leaning heavily on the moral force of the presence of United States marines and sailors here to combat menace (Continued On Page Two)

CHICAGO, April 18.—Tommy Abbott, north side gangster whom police regard as a possible leader of the gang that kidnaped Fred J. Blumer, Monroe, Wis., brewer, may be the man whose body was found in the sanitary district canal at Lockport, his wife told police today.

They expressed some doubt, however. The body is more than six feet tall, while Abbott's description at the bureau of identification showed him to be under six feet. The man had a deep gash on his head, leading officials to believe he had been slugged and then thrown into the water to drown.

Crippled Worker Holds Officers At Bay With Gun

Crippled Mill Worker Armed With Revolver Holds Officers Of Three Boroughs

Tear Gas Bomb Used To Capture Man; Wife Attempts To Commit Suicide

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, April 18.—Seeking to ascertain the mental condition of Andrew Shusko, crippled mill worker of Fair Oaks, county authorities today were to examine the man who, armed with a revolver, last night held county detectives, police officers of three boroughs at bay in a field near the Leetsdale Borough building.

After a three hour siege, witnessed by more than 100 persons, Shusko was captured when blinded by a tear gas bomb thrown by Police Chief A. W. Noland of Leetsdale.

Shusko's furniture was placed in the street yesterday as the result of a sheriff's sale. Despondent over their misfortune, his wife attempted suicide.

The former mill worker then dashed into the Riter-Conley mills of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, where he lost his leg in an industrial accident several years ago, and covered George Stewart, mill foreman, with a revolver while voicing demands that he be compensated for the accident, police said.

Chief Noland and County Detectives Philip Goldberg and William Black, who were in the mill at the time searching for jurors, coaxed Stewart outside. Once out of the mill, Shusko took up his stand in a field where he threatened to shoot the officers who had followed.

Combined police forces of Fair Oaks, Ambridge, Leetsdale and county detectives were held at bay. Persuaded to move on, Shusko was taken captive in an Ambridge park by Roy C. Wilson, Leetsdale officer, after Chief Noland had hurled the tear gas bomb.

Shusko's wife, who had swallowed the contents of a bottle of poison, was reported recovering in Sewickley hospital today. The couple's seven children were taken to the juvenile court detention home.

You're the JUDGE

Here's a dispute that still is ranking in the breasts of Clinkham Sons Company, a supply house and William Higgs a retailer. It all came about this way. Higgs bought a bill of goods from Clinkham's totaling $175. When the shipment finally did arrive there were items there that Higgs didn't like at all. So he packed these up in a smaller case, studied the invoice and found they totaled $90, and sent them back to Clinkham's. When the elder Clinkham received them he was much chagrined and immediately raised the question of Higgs' right to do this. And then he refused to accept the goods from the delivery man who brought it.

The following day a check came from Higgs for $85 with a letter saying it was payment in full for the amount due. Clinkham accepted the check, cashed it and immediately wrote to Higgs demanding another check for the balance. But here for a while all matters ceased and Higgs never responded to Clinkham at all. Clinkham waited till his patience became exhausted and then filed suit.

At the trial Higgs argued that when Clinkham accepted and cashed the check for $85 he took it under the conditions sent—as payment in full, and that therefore there is no balance due him.

How would you decide this case? Make up your mind before you read the decision. Decision will be found on Classified Page.

even though America takes not further active hand in the situation. The communiques of Secretary of State Stimson outlining the government's new attitude was cable to the legation at Bluefields and immediately made public.

A short while later, a general exodus of Americans from the interior to coastal cities got under way. The majority of "refugees" are gathering at Bluefields and Puerto Cabezas in the hope of security beneath the guns of the various battleships now enroute to the seaports.

The Rochester is carrying a detachment of 100 marines and 300 sailors, increasing the American forces on the Nicaraguan east coast to well over 1,000. The vessel is expected at Bluefields tomorrow night.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 18.—International complications conceivably may arise from the administration's new policy of not guaranteeing any protection to American lives and property in the interior of Nicaragua, although the hope and belief prevails in Washington that other governments will sympathetically co-operate in the undertaking.

For many years, under the Monroe doctrine, the United States has virtually policed Latin America for the entire world. Foreign governments have been discouraged, and in some few instances actually warned not to intervene in Latin America to protect their own nationals and property rights. The position assumed by the United States has been "we will take care of it, you stay out."

This policy, rigorously adhered to by the Coolidge administration, has now apparently been abandoned. Diplomats in Washington are going to watch the experiment with interest.

Cites Precedents. Secretary of State Stimson cited numerous precedents for his policy.

Indeed, the archives of the department are filled with them. There are, however, as many or more precedents against the policy. The Wilson, Harding and Coolidge administrations established many precedents for the government undertaking the protection of American nationals wherever they may travel.

President Coolidge gave forceful expression to what he conceived to be the duty of the United States under the Monroe Doctrine in a speech in 1927. He said:

"The person and the property of a citizen are a part of the general domain of the nation, even when abroad. The fundamental laws of justice are universal in their application. These rights go with the citizen. Wherever he goes these rights of our government must follow him."

There have been few more positive commitments by any president concerning the government's intention of putting the flag behind the citizen.

Other governments besides the United States have national and property interests in Nicaragua and throughout Central America. Should the Nicaraguan rebels kill some of these foreigners or destroy their property, Britain, for example, there might arise an incident that would be exceedingly embarrassing to this government. British policy is notoriously intent upon protecting British rights wherever located. French policy is similarly positive.

Varied Reception. Secretary Stimson's announcement met with a varied reception on Capitol Hill, where many hours have been consumed in debating the Marine occupation of Nicaragua.

Generally, the new policy was hailed with satisfaction by those elements which have always opposed American intervention in Latin America, and which agitated unceasingly for the withdrawal of Marines from Nicaragua and Haiti. It was condemned by others. Rep. Hamilton Fish (R) of New York, for instance, said he was "disgusted."

Senator Borah, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, Senator Norris, leader of the senate Progressives, Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, Senator Walsh (D) of Montana, and others identified with the Progressive faction, expressed satisfaction.

"I take it," said Borah, "that this is a step toward our getting out of Nicaragua. In that view, I am in hearty accord. Our Marines have been in Nicaragua for 21 years. We have set up governments, taken down governments and run governments. I am in favor of the Nicaraguans having any kind of government they want, changing it as often as they want, and in the manner they want. We ought to get out and stay out."

The ranking Democrat on the foreign relations committee, Senator Swanson of Virginia, however, took a more cautious position.

"The information sent by the state department to the American legation at Managua that American citizens who remain in the interior of Nicaragua cannot expect governmental protection presents a serious situation. I would not like to commit myself as to the wisdom of this policy at this time."

American investments in Nicaragua are fairly extensive, although mostly confined to the two coast ports where the state department has indicated protection will be afforded. Roughly, American firms and individuals have some $25,000,000 invested in plantations, business houses, etc., two thirds of which are on the east coast.

that Huff was setting the brake in anticipation of striking the box car when he suddenly struck the gondola and was jarred from his position at the brake.

Witness Accident. W. C. Bewe, and several other railroad men witnessed the accident at a distance. There was no one on the three cars which had been cut from the engine. In the opinion of the railroad men who were questioned by Coroner J. P. Caldwell following the two cars which were ahead of him, and was evidently watching the box car when he struck the gondola. Brakes of the box car were examined after the accident and found to be in good shape.

Mr. Huff was a native of Saxton, Pa., and had been engaged in railroad work for many years. His fellow employees say that he was regarded as a very careful man. He came to New Castle in 1911, where he has since resided. Huff was a member of the Masonic fraternity and a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. Mr. Huff is survived by his wife, Julia Ann Huff, four sisters and five brothers. Remains were shipped today to Saxton, Pa., where the funeral will be held from the residence of deceased's brother, Robert E. Huff.

STAR LORE PLANET MARS' TEMPERATURE REVISED

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

Measurements of temperatures on the moon and Mars, of more refined character, carried out with the thermocouple—that amazingly delicate instrument devised for measuring the temperatures on planets and stars—have just come to light. It was found at Mount Wilson observatory that the allowance for the loss of heat caused by water vapor in the air had been too big. When this had been corrected, it was found that the surface of the moon under a vertical sun is 214 degrees F. This more accurate measurement also modifies the figures about planet Mars. Mars with the sun directly overhead, shows 60 degrees temperature F. when the planet is nearest to the sun. That the polar caps are still hold good.

Freight Train Blamed

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 18.—Wreck of the Panhandle Express of the Pennsylvania railroad, entailing the loss of two lives and minor injury to 27 passengers, was caused by a freight train leaving the rails and blocking the path of the express.

That was the opinion expressed by officials of the railroad who returned here today after viewing the wreckage. They have not ascertained as yet what caused the freight train's derailment.

M. S. Eagan, in charge of movement of trains in this region, told International News Service that the freight train, known as PG-18, left the rails as the crack express approached and there was no time to warn the crew of the latter of impending danger.

Mars Chamber Asks Delay In Hearing Of Short Line Case

Mrs. Pa., Chamber Wants Delay In Hearing On Proposed Abandoning Of Short Line

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 18.—In accordance with the plan of action agreed upon at their mass meeting last night, members of the Mars, Pa., Chamber of Commerce today prepared to ask for a delay in hearings on the proposed abandonment of the Butler Short Line railroad between Mars and Butler.

Both the railroad and residents along the right of way were granted until next Monday to prepare arguments and answers in the plan to discontinue the line as requested by Maurice R. Schaff, receiver. Basis for the delay request, according to members of the chamber, will be the fact that Schaff only allowed the complainants ten days in which to prepare their answers and that this time was insufficient to form a mature estimate of the questions involved.

The Pittsburgh Railways company was named as a possible "purchaser" of the line by Borough Solicitor John H. Wilson. Attorney John C. Graham, of Butler, and Wilson, were named to represent protesting patrons of the line at future hearings on the abandonment. According to present plans, the two-man committee will inform Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, who granted Schaff's rule, that abandonment of the electric line will depress real estate values in the Butler valley, inconvenience the residents, and injure the business of Pittsburgh department stores.

At a mass meeting last night, Graham charged that owners of the electric line had allowed it to depreciate without badly needed repairs.

Verdict Rendered In Sholler Case

Amount Of $918 Considerably Less Than Was Awarded By Viewers In Case

(International News Service)

In the case of B. F. Sholler against the county of Lawrence, which was tried in county court before Judge Hydebrand, the jury returned a verdict for $918 in favor of the plaintiff. The verdict was considerably less than had been awarded by the viewers. Sholler thought the award by viewers was not enough and the county commissioners thought it was too much, so that both had favored the appeal.

Sholler owns a farm along the New Castle-Volant road through which the newly improved road to Volant passes. He claimed damage to his property by reason of land taken and the diverting of water from the road to his farm. Some of the witnesses placed the amount of damage at more and some at less than the amount awarded in the verdict.

The county commissioners have had considerable trouble in settling the damage cases along the Volant road, notwithstanding the fact that residents along the road were very persistent in their demands to have it improved.

NEWSPAPER MAN WEDS LOCAL GIRL

A pretty wedding of interest to many occurred this morning when Miss Rosemary Ruth Rice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse N. Rice of Richfield avenue became the bride of Charles "Bugs" Walther, a popular newspaper man on The News staff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Walther of Cleveland, Ohio.

An impressive ring ceremony was read at 11 o'clock by Dr. C. S. DeJong, pastor of the First Christian church, before an assemblage of members from the immediate families, at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride was lovely in an exquisite pastel pink lace gown, fashioned with fitted bodice and skirt of floor length, fluffed at the bottom in the modish fulness now decreed. She wore accessories to match and carried an arm cluster of pink roses tied with a huge bow of matching material. She chose as her attendant, Miss Viorice Walther, sister of the bridegroom, who was attired in a frock of the same pattern in a delicate shade of blue with accessories to match. Her arm bouquet was made up of Tea roses. Perry D. Rice, brother of the bride, served as best man.

After the responses were made and the vows plighted, a wedding dinner was served in the dining room by the bride's mother. The table was beautifully decorated in tones in keeping with the wedding appointments, centered with a large wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. Walther is a graduate of the New Castle Senior High School, with the class of '28 and at present is employed as secretary of Sheriff Frank N. Johnston. Mr. Walther also a graduate of the local Senior High School, is affiliated with The News company as telegraph editor.

Out of town guests present included Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Walther and daughters Viorice and Betty Jane of Cleveland, Ohio.

Following a short wedding trip to Cleveland, O. Mr. and Mrs. Walther will be at home to their friends in their newly furnished apartment located at 103 1-2 North Walnut St.

ROBISON-CLAYPOOL MARRIAGE FRIDAY

Mr. and Mrs. William N. Robison of the Youngstown road announce the marriage of their daughter Edith M. to Clarence W. Claypool of Harrison street, son of Mrs. Della Claypool.

The ceremony was performed in Mercer Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the parsonage of the Methodist church with the pastor, the Rev. W. J. Small being the officiant.

The bride was charming in a gown of orchid chiffon with fitted waist and long flowing skirt of ankle length. She wore a picture hat and accessories to match. Her shoulder corsage was of pink rose buds and sweet peas.

Mrs. Claypool attended the senior high school and is affiliated with the Burton Explosives company. Mr. Claypool is employed at the New Castle Tin Mill.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple returned to the home of the bride's parents, where a wedding dinner was served. Covers were laid for members of the immediate families at the beautifully appointed table.

After May 1 Mr. and Mrs. Claypool will take up their residence in New Castle.

Legion Dinner

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary held a dinner Friday evening in the Legion Home, Jefferson street, honoring the new members of the organization.

Places were arranged for 50 at the long tables; which were centered with a long basket of yellow roses; the color being carried out in other table appointments.

After the serving of a delicious menu, the president, Mrs. I. W. Miller called a business meeting to order and plans were made for a card party in the Home on Friday, April 24, with play scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock, the regular meeting will be held on Friday, May 1 and plans were begun for the presentation of a Mother's Day program on May 15. Concluding business, the long tables were arranged for bingo and a prize for high score was awarded Mrs. C. C. Horner. A special prize for the evening went to Mrs. Simon Hartman.

Shriver-Gibson Marriage

Mrs. C. F. Shriver of Hillcrest avenue announces the marriage of her daughter Dorothy to Lawrence Gibson, son of Mrs. Hettie Gibson of Neshannock avenue.

Words aren't dead. They live as you do. They shine, they glow, they laugh, they ache; and some of them make you angry and some of them make you weep. Some are like old friends, some are ancient enemies; some of them make you proud, some of them send the blush of shame to your face and stir up old memories you'd rather had lain quietly in their graves.

Words do not mean the same things to all men. They change for us as we live along through the years. "Love" does not mean to you what it did. "Death" has changed. All words change.

Take a list of words or phrases and let your eye run over them, stopping five seconds at each, letting each of them speak to you, quietly. You'll learn a great deal about yourself if you do, by reflecting on how you feel and what you think, as these words pass before your eyes and into your brain. These for example:

Work	Your Mother
Love	Bootleggers
Luck	The Law
Truth	Wife
War	Husband
Vacation	The Future
God	Easy Money
Hard Luck	Adventure
Blonde	Youth
Money	Tips
Success	Hard Times
Your Father	Beauty
Death	Easy Street
Socialism	Alimony
Mortgage	The Good Old Days
Wages for Wives	One of a Job
Poker	The Past
Lynching	Russia
Glory	Mussolini
Babies	Dempsey
Family Troubles	Younger Generation
Younger Generation	Taxicabs
ation	Dreams
Paris	Out of Debt
Regret	Hope

If you could analyze your emotions as your eyes comes to each of the words in that list, you'd know yourself better than anybody else on this earth will ever know you.

Just Folks

LOOKING FORWARD

Here in this world of pain and strife
And doubt and loss and care,
Something there is that sweetens life
And makes it good to bear.
Laughter and song and memory
Set every balance true.
Man braves the winter just to see
The summer skies of blue.

Man would grow old in spite of care,
And old in spite of pain,
To all the burdens he must bear
The chilling snows and rain.
He sets his face to hear once more
A gay child's laughter ring
And see beside his cottage door
The tulips blossoming.

The bleakness of the cold gray days
Is not remembered long;
Tomorrow, like his yesterday,
May bring his share of wrong.
But friends will come, and love will stay
And mirth is sure to be.
And man is glad on earth to stay
Another spring to see.

THE SUREST WAY

To be deceived is to think no one can deceive you.
To lose a friend is to impose upon him.
To prove your patriotism is to sacrifice in peace time.
To answer your critics is with a smile.
To meet a difficulty is without a sign of fear.
To breed failure is to plant deceit in your own soul.
To achieve power is to keep your independence.

Chicago Overturn Declared Opportunity For New Mayor

Country Is Not Impressed By Purity Of Incoming Administration But Is Prepared To Welcome Evidence Of The Spirit Of Reform

Anton J. Cermak, elected mayor of Chicago in a spectacular defeat of Mayor Thompson, begins the new administration with the favorable consideration of the country. The fact that he is himself a machine politician, but there is a feeling that the great opportunity which is his will not be entirely neglected.

"Chicago wins," says the TOLEDO BLADE, with the feeling that "the vote for a change in administration is a compliment to Chicagoans," and concludes: "Anton J. Cermak becomes mayor with a mandate from the people to establish a decent and effective city government. His instructions are definite. He has had long political experience. Now the test will be how effectively Mayor Cermak can combine his experience and the offered co-operation of leaders and citizens at large in giving Chicago a worthy government."

"His election," as viewed by the PORTLAND OREGON JOURNAL, "is one of the big romances of which the United States supplies almost limitless instances. His elevation to the mayoralty of America's second city is hailed by his followers as the 'end of Thompsonism,' waste extravagance and crime." * * * The rise of this immigrant boy to chief executive of the second city in the United States should be stimulation and hope to the youngsters of the country. We may have defects in our system, but the way is wide open to even the humblest boy who has the goods and grit and go-get-ten to rise to exalted place in good old U. S. A."

"In bringing about the defeat of 'Big Bill,' comments the HARTFORD COURANT, "Mr. Cermak was merely an instrument in the hands of the voters, not ideal, but the best at hand. Primarily a politician, Mr. Cermak in the past has revealed no exceptional qualities, but the opportunity before him should tempt him to do his best. During the campaign he showed a perception that his best strategy was to contrast himself sharply to his opponent, to be dignified rather than boisterous, to discuss issues rather than personalities. To keep up the contrast in office would seem the best possible policy. * * * Municipal government in the United States has long been a just cause for reproach, and in Chicago it has been a cause for shame. The Democrats of that city have an opportunity to show that conditions of the past can be corrected and that government in a large city can be decent. The eyes of the country will continue to rest on Chicago to see the results of turning rascals out."

"Chicago's race for mayor," according to the LITTLE ROCK ARKANSAS DEMOCRAT, "was a true type. Cermak promised to clear the town of gangsters, straighten out the tax muddle and otherwise carry on for the glory and financial benefit of the populace. Thompson's strongest appeal was in his clownish parades, vaudeville performances and bombastic speeches. But there is a bit of sour humor in the result. Cermak is the typical political boss and has been for many years."

"Voters do not have to stand the kind of government Chicago has had," declares the ST. JOSEPH GAZETTE. "That is the lesson of the election. The Gazette also concedes: 'There is bound to be a critical attitude toward Mayor Cermak. We already hear that he is planning another Tammany, by virtue of his control of the city of Chicago and Cook county. He did not win because he was an outstanding citizen, but because he was the Democratic candidate against Thompson and by all odds the lesser of two evils. However, that does not remove the fact that no more opportune time ever presented itself for a public official to build for himself an enduring monument in the hearts of the people.'"

Pointing to the emphatic nature of the overturn, the OAKLAND TRIBUNE says: "Something happened in Chicago. Probably more remarkable than the defeat of 'Big Bill' Thompson, unique showman mayor, who has held office since 1915, was the fact 1,143,142 people voted out of a registration of 1,412,135. In the history of American municipal elections it would be difficult to find another expression so near complete. * * * His administration will be watched, not only by his city, but by the whole country. The huge vote indicates an aroused city. It is possible Chicago will cut writing that long delayed chapter in civic reform."

"He is no idealist. He is, in fact, a machine politician with a past. But the end of Thompson ought to be the beginning of a better Chicago," thinks the ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH, while the TEXARKANA GAZETTE, noting that "this slogan seems to be 'out they go,'" concludes that "all this is quite an innovation for Chicago politics and the outcome is being watched in all parts of the country."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

LINCOLN AND PULLMAN.

Historians who have been quickened by the celebration of the 100th birthday of George M. Pullman, discovered that but for the fact that the assassination of President Lincoln had for sequel a national catastrophe, it is probable that the success of the Pullman Palace Car would have been long delayed—perhaps it might even not have come to Mr. Pullman at all.

In his pioneer car the inventor had failed to accommodate his design to fixed physical railroad features. Its body's width projected upon the station platforms; its roof collided with bridges. Those obstacles to operation were not forthwith eliminated by Mr. Pullman was due to no combative spirit. George Pullman simply did not have the capital to launch into changing construction. He was, indeed, concentrating on a quest for added additional finance when suddenly the tragedy at Washington's end its supplemental call for a train across the land to the martyr's Illinois home.

The railroads were lavish in expenditure for the somber spectacle—the Pullman car requisitioned—and orders issued that, even to the lifting of great bridge levels, its movement must be without hindrance.

"When late in life, rich in millions that streamed benevolences, Mr. Pullman reminded of that starting time," he said.

"I met Mr. Lincoln soon after I had moved west from father's New York farm. He was conducting a law suit against a Chicago contracting firm, and I was a witness adverse to him. Being young, I was pretty crisp and positive."

"When I was turned over to him for cross-examination, he leaned across the back of a rickety chair, very solemn-faced and said: 'Sir, how long has it been since you left New York for Illinois?'

"I told him. 'And,' he went on slowly, hesitatingly, seeming so sorry for me, and have the poor bereaved folks back home done much petitioning to have you hurry back?'

"The judge chuckled, the jury roared. 'That's all,' sighed Mr. Lincoln. 'They sure are a hard-hearted lot, those York Statists!'

"Later, I came to know him a little in politics. Though the popular notion is that he was what is called a 'jolly good fellow,' my recollections are that he seemed usually to choose to be a listener rather than a conversation leader. In all the times I saw him I never heard him tell a story. After he became the Nation's head, he grew upon me tremendously—he did upon every Illinois acquaintance. Some of us at that time understood just what Joseph Medill meant when he said: 'Old Abe is not our man—he's our religion.'

Hayes Coming To Credit Dinner

Organizer Of New Castle Credit Bureau Will Be Speaker Next Friday

Arrangements are well under way for the dinner to be held Friday evening, April 24 in Trinity church, for members of the New Castle Credit Bureau.

James D. Hayes, manager of the Harrisburg Credit Bureau who organized the New Castle Credit Bureau several years ago, will be the principal speaker at the dinner and will have an interesting message to impart.

Mr. Hayes is much in demand as a speaker and lecturer on credit topics. The week following the dinner here, he will go to New York where he will lecture for three days on credit subjects.

Any person interested in credit work, whether a member of the Credit Bureau or not, is invited to attend the dinner next Friday evening.

Reservations can be made by calling the New Castle Credit Bureau before Wednesday April 22.

Withers, Brown Get Trout Limit

C. W. Seiple Reports Having Caught 22 Trout Opening Day

Charles Withers and George Brown, this city, had exceptional luck Friday while fishing in Taylor run, each having caught the limit of 25, according to reports received today.

Another report received from the fishmen credits C. W. Seiple of R. D. 3, Volant, with having caught 21 brook trout and one German speckled in the Little Neshannock on the first day of the season.

The first report gave the "title" to Wayne Sines but it later went to H. Clare Stockman. Sines caught 17 in the Slippery Rock and Stockman got his 20 in Taylor run.

John Brogan, 816 Lathrop street, traveled to Taylor run Thursday and caught nine trout which ranged from seven to nine inches in size and on Friday other good catches were reported.

R. M. Thompson, 638 East Washington street, got 12 which were seven to 10 1/2 inches in length, and Chester Nimms, 205 Dixon street, also caught a dozen the same size. Numerous trout fishermen were along the various embankments today, some of them having passed up the first few days believing that the trout would be wary from so many fishermen wading and casting.

Realty Firms Offer 300 Lots For Gardening

Will Be No Lack Of Suitable Garden Plots For Those Wishing Gardens

Every deserving person in New Castle who is desirous of having a garden this summer will not be denied their wish through a lack of garden plots, it was stated this morning by members of the committee in charge of the effort to secure free garden plots for the unemployed.

In addition to the 120 lots of the city, and those already offered by citizens, the Weingartner Realty Co. and J. Clyde Gillilan each offered the use of 150 lots each making over 400 lots available for garden purposes from these three sources alone.

Free seeds will be available for every person desiring them and one of the biggest gardening efforts ever undertaken in this city will get under way next month.

D. U. V. Joins In Sharon Meeting

A number of members of the Daughters of Union Veterans of this city motored to Sharon Wednesday evening and participated in the celebration of the eighth anniversary of the founding of the Madeline Gilbert Camp 23, Daughters of Union Veterans of Sharon, in the Leslie Hall, that city; they were also guests at the dinner which preceded the meeting.

Special guests for the event were members of the Sharon Post of the G. A. R.; the Sons of Veterans and the husbands of the members.

Mrs. Jessie Crooks, of New Castle, department senior vice president of Pennsylvania D. U. V. and organizer of the camp, gave an interesting talk on how and when the camp was founded and organized, she having been instrumental in this organization. At the close of her talk she was presented with a pot of beautiful tulips.

Mrs. Frank Gilbert, wife of the mayor of Sharon, was presented with a birthday cake in honor of the birthday of the tent which was named in honor of Mayer Gilbert's mother.

A program of readings and music rounded out the evening's entertainment.

(BULLETIN)
SOMERVILLE, Mass., April 18.—A bride was slashed to death in her home today and her husband was removed to Somerville hospital suffering from the effects of poison, believed self-administered.

The slain bride was Mrs. Esther Colledanchise, 22.

Her husband, Salvatore, was quoted by his brother, Joseph, as saying: "She asked me to kill her and I did."

A police guard was placed over Salvatore. Relatives said he was a shoe worker, had been without employment and had been acting strangely of late. A shoe knife from his kit was found near the body of his bride.

Insurance Case Is Before Court

Claimed That C. E. Alquist Failed To Co-operate With Company In Helen Graham Suit

The case of Helen A. Graham against the United States Fidelity and Guarantee Company of Baltimore was called for trial before Judge Hildebrand this morning.

The case is one in which Miss Graham sued C. E. Alquist for injuries in an automobile accident. Alquist was insured in the Fidelity Company.

Considerable difficulty was experienced in bringing the case to trial owing to the fact that Alquist would give the insurance company no co-operation. Attorneys for the insurance company were unable to get him when they wanted to prepare an affidavit of defense. It was claimed that he had left the city. Finally the case was brought to trial without him and a verdict awarded to Miss Graham. It was found, however, that it could not be collected from Alquist.

Later a suit was filed against the insurance company, but it is now alleged that it was not brought within the legal limit after the accident. The greater part of the forenoon was taken in arguments over technicalities. The insurance company, which had at first secured counsel to defend the case, dropped out when no co-operation had been given by Alquist, and claim that he voided the policy by his conduct. The plaintiff alleges that the policy is not voided as to Miss Graham.

presence, and by tacit understanding Alfonso and members of his entourage were equally careful to avoid necessity for official contact. However, the impression gained here that complications were bound to develop if the exiled King stayed on French soil for any length of time.

Agitation Starts
Scarcely had the thunderous shouts of acclaim that greeted Alfonso and Queen Victoria on arrival here by separate routes from Madrid subsided when French socialists began active agitation against the royal couple's presence here. Partially to pacify this growing uneasiness on the part of strong republican elements who witnessed with misgiving the influx of royalty and royalists from various countries to extend sympathy to the exiles, the French Government formally acknowledged existence of a sister republic across the Pyrenees.

The Quai D'Orsay instructed its ambassador at Madrid to inform the republican government of France's formal recognition. It was the first major power to take this step.

Bride Slashed To Death By Husband

After Killing Wife Husband Attempts To Commit Suicide With Poison

(BULLETIN)

SOMERVILLE, Mass., April 18.—A bride was slashed to death in her home today and her husband was removed to Somerville hospital suffering from the effects of poison, believed self-administered.

The slain bride was Mrs. Esther Colledanchise, 22.

Her husband, Salvatore, was quoted by his brother, Joseph, as saying: "She asked me to kill her and I did."

A police guard was placed over Salvatore. Relatives said he was a shoe worker, had been without employment and had been acting strangely of late. A shoe knife from his kit was found near the body of his bride.

Dancing Class At Y. W. On Monday

Another dancing class for children between the ages of 6 to 10 years will be conducted Monday evening at 4:30 in the Y. W. C. A. gymnasium. The class was inaugurated last Monday and was attended by a large number of local misses. It is believed that even more will attend this second class.

Instruction in dancing will be given by the director of the health education department, Miss Caroline Stegner.

Men's Bible Class Under New Officers

The Men's Bible class of the Third United Presbyterian church met Friday evening in the church with the new officers taking their places. J. W. Rupert assumed the duties of president and a business session was held when the future welfare of the class was discussed.

A splendid program marked the entertainment period, with selection given by the three Kirkers men; Walter Earl and Frank Candota gave a number of selections on string instruments.

The Margaret Copeland circle presented a humorous skit, "The Hitching Post" which caused a great deal of merriment.

Fire Loss In 1930 Reached $330,721, Lynn Report Shows

Blair Steel Fire Responsible For High Total—Township Loss Is Announced

Loss in fires in this city during 1930 was approximately $330,721.62, according to the annual report of Fire Chief Charles H. Lynn to Superintendent of Public Safety Clayton H. Reeves.

The report, completed recently indicates that the loss, proportionally high when other recent fire losses are considered, was boosted by the Blair Strip Steel Company fire on October 1, 1930, when a fire in the old main mill of the steel firm brought a damage loss of approximately $200,000.

Of the entire loss in the city during the year the report states that $120,721.66 was the building loss, while $209,389.76 was the contents loss.

Lynn's report is a complete survey of the city fire department's activities and includes many interesting items.

The loss of $330,721.62 sustained in city fires does not include the chief's report states the approximate loss of $24,674.26 incurred in fires outside the city to which the local department responded.

THE ROMANCE OF ALICE AND NICK
Nick Wins The Princess
And Magnificent Gifts Rain Down On Happy Couple
To Be Wed In White House
Story No. 5

At the wedding, Nicholas Longworth, Alice Roosevelt and President Theodore Roosevelt.

(This is the fifth of a series of six stories on the romance of Alice Roosevelt and Nicholas Longworth.)

By ANNE M. KEEZER
Written for Central Press.
WASHINGTON, April 18.—Alice Roosevelt returned from her triumphal tour of the Far East about the first of November, 1905. Washington was at its gayest and Alice more tireless than ever, threw herself into a round of events.

Nick took up his congressional duties, but found time to be pretty constantly at her side. He often went to the White House to get the young girl in the Alice blue motor-coat, and they drove through the beauties of the late autumn in Rock Creek park.

Of course, gossip was furiously going around that something—surely something—must come from this gay comradeship. Speculations on a White House wedding were numerous, and Washington caterers and florists held their breath and prayed for Nick's success.

At last. Then the word came. President and Mrs. Roosevelt announced the engagement of their daughter, Alice Lee, to Mr. Nicholas Longworth of Cincinnati. O. The wedding was set for some time in February, 1906.

Instantly, social activity in Washington took on a new and terrific impetus. Every hostess in the capital wanted to be the first to honor the newly engaged couple.

The White House became the center of gay gatherings of Alice's girl friends from school. The papers could scarcely keep track of her mad whirl of parties, drives, rides, tears—everything that society had to offer.

Blind People Are Good In Business
World Is Revealed
Think Faster, Work Longer
And Put In More "Hard Licks" Than Most People

(International News Service)
ALLENTOWN, Pa., April 18.—Thinking faster, working longer and putting in "harder licks" than competitors are the factors whereby a blind person can be successful in business, according to C. R. Bachman, local real estate dealer.

And Bachman is an authority. For not only is he considered one of the most successful blind men in the city but he has been blind for years. Bachman tells time by the sense of touch, can operate a typewriter and has for years, and has run his real estate and coal business as well as any unafflicted person.

WEEKLY
LETTER

The Castleton Monday, April 20, 1931.
12:15 to 1:30 P. M.

Fellow Rotarian:
If the government furnished you with as much information regarding your business as is given the farmer, you would be free from worries and business would be automatic. And yet to think the farmer still has problems. In explanation of this enigma Harold McCullough, Farm Problem Solvent, will speak on "A Farm Problem."

That "A" is just plain "a" but the problem is not so plain and simple. Hear Ye! Hear Ye! It might be that this speech is an obituary on Daylight Savings or something.

This is to confirm telegram of even date, viz: "Notify members revised cost schedule for thirty-third district conference stop no registration fee will be charged stop no charge for ladies entertainment luncheon airplane ride bridge and theatre party stop no charge for governors ball stop only charge mens luncheon one dollar each stop banquet four dollars per person stop register with hotel direct stop advise us number that will attend conference and banquet."

Signed Elliott G. Dodge, Chairman Registration Committee, Rotary Club of Pittsburgh.
Grant Waddle attended Indiana Rotary.

Rotogram
"Some don't get nuthin' from Rotary. But when their whines begin We often can remind them that They don't put nuthin' in."
Gov. F. Irving Holmes
39th District.
Carl E. Paisley, Sec'y.

Rev. S. B. Copeland Presents Series Of Sermons On Problems

Rev. S. B. Copeland, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church will begin a series of sermons on the Lord's prayer at the Sunday morning service in his church; "Christ's Mould of Prayer" will be the specific subject for Sunday morning will be "Child and Father."

On last Sunday evening, Rev. Copeland began a series of "Problem" sermons and the Sunday evening subject for this week will be "The Problem of Leadership." This series is proving of great interest to both old and young with special emphasis being stressed upon the problems of youth.

D. A. Palmer, Harry Richey, C. M. Lutz, Bert Book, T. L. Eakin, William Williams, H. J. Kennedy, John Kirker, and Roy Scheidemantle will be ordained and installed as deacons at the Sunday evening service. R. B. McKnight and Allen Cartwright will be installed.

Card Of Thanks
We wish to express our thanks for the kindness and sympathy shown by our friends and neighbors during the illness and death of our beloved husband and father, Robert J. Hamilton. Also for the beautiful floral tributes and cars placed at our disposal.

GETTING A START
Buying necessities keeps few men or families poor.
Indulging extravagant ideas ruins more savings resolutions than bread and butter.

Hundreds of people are always a little behind. For the sake of having a few luxuries a little ahead of time, they are continually anticipating their incomes.

By resolutely saving money, on a definite plan, it is not difficult to get a few hundred dollars ahead and then enjoy the satisfaction of being always flush instead of always hard-up.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Discerning Mother Need Not Fear

Daughters Can't Go Wrong With Lovely Training

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education,
Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

"Dear Dr. Myers: Let me thank you for your fine article in the Sioux City Journal. You understand that children as well as parents are people. You realize that few families have a nurse, a cook, and a parlor maid, but that most mothers have to be all these things for themselves. You know that the day has only 24 hours. You know that parents suffer fatigue and temper and other human frailties.

"I have three daughters. The oldest will be five next April, the second will be two in April, and the youngest is five months old. The oldest is a very easy child to raise. She could say 'mama' at six months; laced her own shoes at two and a half. I believe she could have done it sooner without mistake if she had laced shoes. She does nearly all my marketing now, remembering two or three articles, never making a mistake. She leads in play and plays happily with every one from the laundress to the neighbor's baby.

"She is obedient in what I call a positive way; that is, she nearly always minds when I tell her to do something, but frequently keeps on doing something I ask her not to do. However, thanks to your articles, I have almost ceased to give orders and have substituted requests. She has never been jealous of her little sisters, has no fears, goes to the doctor's alone to be vaccinated and has never asked, 'What can I do?'

"But I have noticed that my little daughter is pretty 'bossy' with her playmates. How can I stop this? She says something, then tells them what to reply, and much of their play is carried on in this way. She is impatient also. My remedy for this is calmness and it has some effect, but not as much as I wish it had.

"The second child is more of a problem. She is anti-social. Frequently plays by herself when other children are here, does not talk much and only learns to say the few words she wants to use. She is obedient.

"I believe this child is brighter than the older one. How can I stimulate her interest in people? There might be a fine philosophical question involved as to whether living in Gopher Prairie one might not happily turn one's eyes on Athens, but I do not want her to live in a looking glass.

"The only thing in any of your articles that I have found impractical is the one where you advise parents never to allow the small child to damage books. I distinctly remember having linen books, and I am sure I did not care for them very well, yet I love good books now.

"Last, may I thank you for keeping citizenship in its proper place. Of course, we want our children to be good citizens, else they could not be happy. I deplore the tendency of many 'modern' and usually childless experts to idealize the heartless, soulless, efficiency machine and to deprecate the things that make life pleasant."

Answer: "Your letter encourages me more than I can tell you. The things you say I have done I have tried very hard to do, but was not sure anybody appreciated them. The sympathy and insight in regard to your children almost overwhelms me. Indeed, I hesitate to offer you any advice. With the picture of the family and an understanding father you portray, I just wish Mrs. Myers and I could drop in on you one evening and share the atmosphere.

Just go on doing the lovely things with your children you have been doing, and they can't go wrong.

Aimee To Build Temple In China

SHANGHAI, China, April 18.—Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, California evangelist and the exponent of the "four square gospel," has decided to build a temple for her followers here.

Until the arrival of the Mrs. McPherson for a brief visit recently it was not generally known that there was a Four Square Gospel Church in Shanghai. But while she was here Mrs. McPherson appeared before her followers and they decided to support her plan for a tabernacle in Shanghai seating 2,000 persons.

Although she said she was suffering from a nervous breakdown Mrs. McPherson found time for the purchase of the site. The present Four Square Gospel Church is capable of seating but 300.

It was in China that Mrs. McPherson, with her late first husband, Robert Semple, began her missionary work which later led to her spectacular evangelistic career.

Difference Of Opinion Gives Interest To Discussion

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Difference of opinion not only makes horse races, but also apparently adds to the interest of health discussions. It would be a matter of real disappointment to me if all the opinions I express in this column should be read without arousing any opposition or disagreement. I would think that I had not said anything sufficiently interesting to provoke discussion. But I am not likely to suffer any such disappointment this week because I have had as good a scolding as I ever got, from a lady who is apparently a registered nurse, about my article on colds.

In that article I expressed the opinion that the widespread habit nowadays among health writers of saying that colds were not a minor malady but could have very serious consequences was unjustified. First, only so far as my experience went, colds were not fraught with any dangerous sequelae; and, second, because there was no use frightening people about something that could not be helped, and again in my experience there was no certain way to prevent colds.

Well, here is the lady's letter which I am glad to publish for what value you may get from it. "In the face of all that has been done by our health authorities to educate the people against colds, it is extremely unfortunate that such an article as yours was published. There's no getting around it—colds are dangerous. Surely you have seen households of little children and adults tired and weary from snuffling and coughing—nights of sleeplessness. Suppose they don't hurt anyone seriously— Isn't the suffering of the individual, the unpleasantness to himself and others enough to make them worth working against?"

"From my own experience and that of others in my family I know that colds can be prevented most of the time. First of all a well-balanced diet. Then if one does start, at the very first feeling of it (any one who has ever been a victim can't mistake that sensation in the nostrils) apply a mentholated salve by means of toothpicks or small applicators wrapped with cotton, well up into each nostril every hour or so. Take soda every two hours—one teaspoonful in a glass of water. "Let the diet consist chiefly of alkaline reacting foods and most colds will just naturally retreat."

"Some times they come on stubbornly, relentlessly, but even then they seldom last more than three or four days, and are much less severe. "It has been the greatest relief and help to our family to learn to keep the cold pest at bay."

"I know people who are too lazy, careless or thoughtless of their own and others' welfare to go to the trouble of taking the prevention or warding off treatment and they snuff and snort and cough around for two weeks when it could have been over within a few days or prevented in the first place by a balanced diet and the right amount of fresh air."

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each and a self-addressed stamped envelope to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Says Fatherless Children Should Be With Mothers

Mrs. Roy A. Long, Vice President Of Mothers' Assistance Fund Tells Of Campaign

"There is no substitute for a mother," asserts Mrs. Roy A. Long, vice president of the Mothers' Assistance fund in Lawrence county, which with other similar organizations throughout the state, is urging the appropriation of over four million dollars by the state legislature to take care of all widows with dependent children.

"Fatherless children," she continued, "belong with their mothers. It is a wise and proper investment in future citizenship for the state to make it possible for fatherless children to remain in their own homes, with their own mothers, rather than to have these homes broken up by poverty and the children placed in institutions or in foster families. These are the ideas back of mothers' assistance."

"The first mothers' assistance law was adopted in Missouri in 1911. The Pennsylvania mothers' assistance act was passed in 1913. The act has been amended in certain respects since its passage. Under the terms of this law, the governor appoints, in each county which accepts the provisions of the act, seven women who serve without pay as trustees of the Mothers' Assistance fund for that county.

Every two years the legislature appropriates a fund sum for the Mothers' Assistance fund for the coming biennium. This appropriation (minus a small sum for the administration of the state office) is apportioned among the counties where the fund operates. Each county by action of its county commissioners, matches with an equal amount the appropriation made by the state to that county.

From these funds, the Mothers' Assistance fund trustees provide as aid in supporting their children in their own homes, assistance to poor and dependent mothers of proved character and ability who have children under the age of 16 years and whose husbands are dead or permanently confined in institutions for the insane. The law provides that the maximum grant to any widow shall not exceed $20 a month for the first child and $10 a month for each additional child under 16.

The outstanding problem of mothers' assistance in Pennsylvania is the lack of an adequate state appropriation. The funds appropriated by the state ought to be sufficient to clear up the waiting list and to extend aid to every mother entitled to assistance under the terms of the law.

To attain this goal is the aim of a campaign which is now being conducted throughout the state.

St. Vitus Parish Plans Big Spaghetti Dinner On Wednesday, April 22

St. Vitus Italian Catholic parish with the generous cooperation of the people of this city and vicinity will hold one of the biggest and most successful affairs in the history of the parish in the Cathedral on Wednesday, April 22.

The affair will be the 15th annual spaghetti dinner, which is sponsored by Rev. Fr. N. DeMita, the pastor, and the five Catholic societies of the parish, Mother of Sorrow Society, Children of Mary Sodality, Holy Name society, the L. C. B. A. and Social Workers.

Objective of the supper is to raise funds needed by the parish and for the care of unemployed members of the parish, whom the parish has been assisting for months and who are still in need of much further assistance.

Spaghetti Dinner. These spaghetti dinners were inaugurated by Rev. Fr. DeMita some 26 years ago at the inception of his pastorate here, being designed for the purpose not alone of securing funds for the benefit of the parish, but also to draw the Italian-American residents of the city and their fellow citizens of the community into a more friendly relationship.

Then there was another object, that of acquainting the others of the community with one of the favorite dishes of the Italian people, namely, spaghetti.

These dinners continued for many years without interruption, growing in popularity and cementing the friendship more firmly between the Italian-Americans and the other people of the city, until through various causes there has been a number of years during which the dinner has of necessity been discontinued.

Assure Real Success. Now once more the dinner is to be held and the enthusiasm of the members of the parish and the people of the city in general assures the affair of being a real success, in fact the biggest and best ever held. People of every walk of life are looking forward to the event and will be present.

The selection of the Cathedral for the dinner was to please the younger generation, also to care for in the proper manner the immense throng of people who are planning to attend.

Many business houses and concerns are making it an occasion on which they are giving their employees a treat, having purchased blocks of tickets for that purpose.

Among the business concerns which are planning to entertain their employees and friends are the New Castle Dry Goods company, New Castle News, Colonial Life Insurance company, Baltimore Life Insurance company, Metropolitan Life Insurance company, Prudential Insurance company, Peoples Savings & Trust company, Union National bank, Rieck-McJunkin Dairy company, Penn Coal & Supply company, Pennsylvania Power company, Economy Shoe store, Haney Furniture company, Huston Hardware company, South Side Hardware company, Higgins department store, Giffitt department store, the Winter company and many others.

Dinner at 6 O'clock. The dinner will be served promptly at 6 o'clock. There will be two sittings, first at 6 p. m. and the second at 7 p. m. It is planned to feed approximately 900 at each sitting at the more than 15 tables and to have the place entirely cleared of the tables and dinner guests by 8 o'clock.

The menu will include dishes of true Italian style, prepared and served in accordance with Italian custom, yet arranged to appeal to the taste of the friends and guests of the parish attending. The menu includes spaghetti a la Napolitana, Patate Indorate, Italian Antipasto, Polpetta Al Sugo, Insalata Speciale, Olive Nere e Bianche Con Pinocchii.

Real entertainment will be furnished during the dinner, with Peter P. Capitola as toastmaster and a concluding address by Angelo Casacchia. There will be songs and comedy sketches by well known artists under the supervision of P. J. Iodice. There will also be special musical numbers by a symphony orchestra of 20 of the city's best musicians under the supervision of B. J. Biondi and Judy Sypher.

Dancing Also. Dancing will be the diversion of the evening from 8 to 12 o'clock with a special orchestra in charge of B. J. Biondi and Judy Sypher. This event is sponsored by a group of young Italian-Americans who desired to assist in the procuring of funds to aid the unemployed and it is anticipated that their efforts will add materially to the success of the evening.

Splendid service is assured at the dinner with 20 ladies of the parish in charge of the tables and 120 of the girls and young ladies of the parish serving under their supervision.

Committees in Charge. The committees in charge of the dinner are as follows: General chairman, Anthony Marino; vice chairman, Jacob DiFonso; secretary, Carm Sacco; dinner committee, Mrs. Frank Gebbia, general chairlady; general supervisors of dining room, Mrs. Mary Conti and Mrs. Rose Fazzoni; kitchen committee, Mrs. Mary Biondi, head cook and numerous efficient assistants; in charge of details in dining room and kitchen, Mrs. Lena Ciarella; reception committee, P. P. Capitola chairman, D. J. Valenti, Angelo Casacchia, Dr. J. P. Prioletti, Dr. A. M. Perilano, Dr. W. V. Massaro, Charles Ross, Alphonse Scarazzo, Elrich Scarazzo, Frank Summers.

Door committee—Jacob DiFonso, Andy Venditto, Sam Ross, H. A. Fazzoni, Anthony Villani.

Refreshment stand—Ludovic Ciazza, chairman, assisted by Elizabeth Tardelli, Mary Maciariello, Catherine Augustine.

The group of young men in charge of the dance are as follows: Joseph Nocera, chairman; Frank Maciariello, John Mastrangelo, Steve Litrenta, Peter Farcone, Francis Augustine, Tony Bullano, John Porchetti, Patsy Giorgio, Anthony Massella and Francis DiSanctis.

Supreme Officer Will Visit Here. Mrs. Little, supreme captain of the guards of the Woman's Benefit Association from Port Huron, Mich., will be in New Castle Friday, May 1, to talk to the members of the review about the pageant which will be held in Chicago the week of July 20.

Mrs. Little will speak in the Y. W. C. A. auditorium Friday evening, May 1, at 8 o'clock to the members of all reviews of the city. The W. B. A. state convention will be held in Pittsburgh June 4, 5 and 6 and a banquet will be held in the William Penn hotel for the honor guests: Mrs. Bina West Miller, supreme president; Frances D. Partidge, supreme secretary, and Nellie E. Lonsbury, supreme regional director.

A number of the members from New Castle plan on attending this convention.

Pigeons Here Being Entered In Race Sunday

Homing Pigeons From Local Loft Will Be Flown From Dennison To New Castle

Racing pigeons of the Turner loft corner of Clay and North Cedar streets, have already this season been entered into a number of races. A number of selected birds from the local loft will be entered in a race from Dennison, Ohio tomorrow.

The birds are crated to their destination and are released at a certain established time. A good homing pigeon will fly directly back to the home loft, whether ten miles or a hundred miles away.

During the past several races in which birds from the Turner loft were entered, a number of recently purchased flyers got lost and didn't get back home for several days. The older pigeons arrived home with good flying speeds however.

There are about 100 pigeons in the loft, each of which is a high bred, trained flyer.

The meeting opened with the singing of two P. T. A. songs, led by Mrs. Stanley Reese; Mrs. Burleigh Craig read the P. T. A. prayer after which the children presented a program, under the direction of Mrs. Manley Bates.

Billy Davis gave a splendid accordion solo; after which an exercise was given by a number of Dutch maidens: Jean Chapman, Betty Jean Hutchison, Julia Treser, Johanna Hood, Marjory McNicholas, Esther Frye, and Ruth Everhart; a group of songs were presented by the 6 A. class, "Tick Tock" a song of gladness, and "Patriots."

The speaker of the afternoon, Dr. C. C. Green, addressed the members on "Partners in Parenthood," stressing the importance of peace and harmony in the home and the advantage of the teachers and parents working together. He urged the parents to study "Child Psychology" and the important part the parents play in the character forming and helping of the child to form the desired companions and select the proper recreation.

Mrs. Edward L. Davenport talked on "Home Organization and Management," saying the parents must have a purpose, a plan, a system of finance and a budget of time in the home in order to have things work smoothly.

Mrs. Thomas McNicholas sang a beautiful solo: "A Little Child Shall Lead Them," with Miss Mildred Gresham as the accompanist.

Mrs. Hazen appointed a committee to make arrangements for the May meeting, which will be held in the evening and those named were: Mrs. C. R. Brenner, Mrs. Edward Davenport, Misses Genevieve Schugars, Iretta Dart and Mildred Smith.

Illustrate Myths At Chapel Program

"The Rhine Gold" Is Enacted By Living Pictures At Ben Franklin Junior High

An interesting and unique program was presented at the Benjamin Franklin junior high school on Thursday during the assembly period. Several members of the English classes, taught by Mrs. McGaffie, gave a dramatization of a well known tale of mythology, "The Rhine Gold."

For some time the classes have been making a study of myths and their keen understanding was well illustrated by the chapel performance. They used living pictures, lantern slides, victrola records from the Wagner opera and a piano and violin duet to accentuate the ideas Miss Young, who has charge of the chapel programs at Franklin junior high school, gives the following outline of the assembly:

Introduction—Julia Kwolek. Explanatory reading—Miss Ruth Lewis.

Play, Stealing the Gold—8B4 girls. Second reading—Miss Ruth Lewis. Play, Rescue of the Gold—8A4 boys.

Third reading—Miss Ruth Lewis. Lantern slide and victrola music—Gods Crossing Bridge into Walhalla.

Fourth reading, lantern slide and victrola music—Brunnhilde carrying warrior to Walhalla.

Fifth reading, living picture—Brunnhilde loses her immortality. Sixth reading, slide and victrola music—Siegfried slays dragon.

Seventh reading, living picture—Siegfried listening to the birds.

Eighth reading, living picture—Mime offering Siegfried poisonous drink.

Ninth reading, living picture—Wotan gazing sadly at broken spear.

Tenth reading, living picture—Brunnhilde and war sister.

Eleventh reading, living picture—Death of Siegfried.

The piano and violin duet was given by Miss Evea Coulter and Michael Caruso, and those acting in the living pictures were as follows: Wotan, Joe DeMatteo; Loki, Harold O'Brien; Cillberish, Bob Alexander; Mime, Sam Aspromanti; Siegfried, Harold Kelly; dwarf, Bob Brenner; Rhine maidens, Dorothy Atkins, Ruth Jackamo and Irene Saul; Brunnhilde, Beatrice Taylor.

The four stage managers were James Atwell, David Wooding, George Kennedy and John Ferris. Clare Stitt operated the lanterns.

"Name, miss," demanded the traffic cop.

"Desire Stephanie St. John Delagarde du Launge—" began the fair motorist.

"I'll give you one more chance," came back the policeman, closing his book, "but it's the last, mind you."—Tit-Bits.

FIRE CAUSES $200,000 LOSS AT SHENANDOAH

(International News Service)

SHENANDOAH, Pa., April 18.—Fire of undetermined origin early today destroyed the interior of four business buildings in the heart of this city, sent two families fleeing to the street and caused damage estimated at $200,000.

The blaze originated in the basement of a building owned by Dr. Nash Brennan and spread rapidly through the structure, destroying a chain grocery shop, Dr. Brennan's dental offices and a real estate and insurance office. It leaped to an adjoining building, housing a woman's dress shop, then to another occupied by a furniture company and spread into the fourth building, containing small shops, before firemen could check its progress.

For a time, it was feared the flames would spread over the great er part of the downtown business district, but they were checked by a brick fire wall at one end of the block when firemen brought the blaze under control at the upper end.

One fireman, John Williams, was overcome by smoke. He was given first aid treatment, revived and taken to his home.

The fire was discovered by Abe Spont, local manufacturer, who with his family occupied an apartment in one of the buildings. Spont aroused his wife and children, fled to the street, and turned in an alarm.

The fire was put out after all available apparatus in the city battled against it for five hours.

City officials ordered an immediate investigation into the cause of the blaze.

Bomb Explosion Damages Hotel

Believe Bomb Set By Bootleggers; Damage Is Estimated At $5,000

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service) WATERLOO, N. Y., April 18.—A powerful dynamite bomb was exploded today in the Franklin House, local hotel, and wrecked damage estimates at $5,000.

The bomb, apparently a time bomb, was placed near the front door of the hotel which is operated by William Dennison. The force of the explosion virtually wrecked the first floor of the hotel and broke more than 20 windows in the hotel. No one was injured. The bomb, it was believed, was set off by bootleggers.

False Pretense Is Basis Of Suit

Clark Mills Merchant Enters Charge In County Court After Stock Deal

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., April 18.—An action charging false pretense has been brought by H. W. Simmons, prominent Clark Mills merchant, against P. W. Leedom of Erie, Pa. The case will be tried in the April term of Mercer county court. Simmons alleges that he bought stock to the amount of $1,000 from Leedom. The plaintiff charges facts were misrepresented in the sale by Leedom.

Illinois plans a $45,000,000 paving program for 1931, a large part of the mileage to be in the Chicago area.

Sixty-Six School Units Consolidate

School Consolidation In State Has Shown Quite Rapid Growth

Lawrence County Has Two Consolidated Districts Now In Operation

HARRISBURG, April 18.—School consolidation has grown steadily in the rural sections of Pennsylvania since the beginning of the present fiscal school year in July, 1930, according to the records just compiled in the department of public instruction.

Reports on file show that 66 consolidated schools have been organized this year; that 56 of these schools are housed in newly erected buildings, and that most of the other 10 are in remodeled school plants.

The reports also show that these consolidated school buildings are modern and range in size from four to 20 rooms; that many of the buildings contain gymnasiums, auditoriums, laboratories for special work, libraries, cafeterias and rest rooms; and that these are built on sites ranging from 10 to 16 acres in area.

Other information contained in the reports shows that these 66 consolidated schools have replaced 242 one-rooms and a few larger schools; that the instructional force in the newly organized schools is divided into 352 elementary and 52 high school teachers; that the enrollments show 13,442 elementary pupils and 1482 high school students; that these children are provided with superior instruction; that 3579 children are transported to the new schools; that each school has a library adapted to all grades, and that the number of library books in these consolidated schools totals 19,622.

The distribution of these schools by counties is:

Allegheny	6	Indiana	3
Armstrong	2	Jefferson	1
Beaver	2	Lancaster	1
Bedford	1	Lawrence	2
Berks	2	Lebanon	1
Blair	2	Lehigh	2
Bradford	1	McKean	4
Bucks	1	Monroe	1
Butler	3	Montgomery	3
Cameron	1	Montour	1
Chester	2	Northumberland	1
Clarion	1	Perry	1
Clearfield	2	Snyder	1
Columbia	1	Somerset	1
Crawford	1	Susquehanna	1
Dauphin	2	Washington	1
Greene	3	Westmoreland	3
Huntingdon	1

In addition to the 66 consolidated schools organized since July, 31 new buildings were erected for consolidations that were organized prior to the present school year 1930.

County Federation Of Women's Clubs

The American people of today are intensely interested in the welfare of their children. In the past we have been neglectful of the child upon whose advancement depends the progress of humanity. The child has been left to just grow while our great nation has busied itself with the laws that protect property; investigate business activities; foster commercial gain. But a great wave of child-consciousness has swept over the nation. We call it an awakening to the rights of the child.

Child Welfare is the platform upon which many agencies have been formed in recent years that contribute to the child's training, mentally and physically, and sponsor needed legislation for their protection from neglect and abuse.

This platform has been built and altered and remodeled within the walls of the White House where scientists have been called together with social workers, legislators, teachers, and parents to drive in the nails of their research findings and experience and the president of these United States has riveted together the structure with some of the finest expressions of concern and determination that man has ever uttered in the interest of the child.

From the smallest country school to the best equipped high schools in the land of influence of all these agencies at work has engendered new thought and developed practical measures for the training of the child at school. The child's needs and failures have been studied and the needs met and the means to overcome the failures introduced. In the effort to meet these needs and find the cause for failures there has come the recognition that the child needs proper physical preparation before the school days begin for the tasks that begin with the first day of school and increase daily without intermission throughout a long period of years.

To meet this delayed recognition of the need to put the child into a 100 per cent physical condition before the beginning of his school life new agencies have been formed, working under the Health Department of the state.

The activities of these agencies have been centered upon May Day which is Child Health Day and the President issued a proclamation that is a nation-wide call to observe this day: to center the thought upon the needs and the rights of the child.

A part of the plan for this child health program is the pre-school age clinics where the children may be examined under expert care in time for needed prevention and cures to be accomplished before the child enters school.

It is a real need of the child and can be met in a very practical and satisfactory way through the co-operation of parents and teachers and health agencies.

The Federation of Women's Clubs has put its health department at the command of the State Department of Health at Harrisburg and works under the guidance and instruction of the state officials.

New Castle is fortunate that this work has had a beginning in the city schools. The proper co-operation of those interested in the welfare of our New Castle children will bring results for good in the future work of the schools.

May Day is Child Health Day—a time to recognize the needs and the rights of the child.

Bessemer High School Notes

EIGHTH GRADE PARTY
On Friday evening, April 10, the eighth grade held a class party in the high school auditorium. A large number of students attended. Games furnished entertainment for all, and at a late hour refreshments were served by the committee.

STATE SCHOLARSHIP EXAM
The state scholarship examinations are to be held in New Castle on May 1. About six students of the Senior class will take this examination. The highest scorer in the county will be awarded a four-hundred dollar scholarship to any advanced school in Pennsylvania.

BASKETBALL GAME
On Friday evening, April 10, the Junior class took the intramural basketball championship by defeating the Senior class by a 21-16 margin. The final game of the three game series went a three-minute overtime go before the Junior supremacy was determined. The Seniors led by a 10-6 score at the end of the first half, but the Juniors came back at the end of the rest period with a flashy exhibition of long shooting. This tied the score, 16-16, at the end of the game. In the extra three minutes the Juniors ran wild, scoring five points, and holding the Seniors scoreless. Afric and Stanley starred for the Juniors, while Grist and Stanish copied the honors for the Seniors.

BASEBALL GAMES
Bessemer opened its baseball season on Tuesday evening, April 14. At that time they played the Mt. Jackson nine on the latter's field. The Bessemer team brought home the victory by a 12-0 score.

The team met the Union team on Thursday evening, April 16. This game was played on the Union field. Again, the Bessemer lads proved themselves stronger than their opponents by a margin of six points, the final score being 10-4.

THE JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET
The date for the Junior-Senior banquet has been set for May 7. The committees are already at work. The following are the committees which have been chosen: Refreshment committee—Edith Rowe, percale. Those are to be stuffed with cotton.

A general review of manners was the work of the Courtesy club.
The Science and Invention club members went for a field trip.

OTHER NOTES
Thelma DeArment, a Senior student, has been absent from school work on account of illness.
A group of high school students and teachers attended the funeral of Mr. Macklin on Thursday afternoon. Miss Marcella Macklin is a member of the Sophomore class.

Court Witness Is Held In Contempt

(International News Service)
ALLENTOWN, Pa., April 18.—"Hello, Pop" is no way to salute a judge. At least, not in Lehigh county.

John Kraynick learned that when he was called as a witness in a case involving his son.

The elder Kraynick, according to court attaches, had looked upon the wine and felt exhilarated. When summoned to the witness stand, he addressed Judge C. T. Reno as "aforementioned."

The judge waited until testimony was finished. And Kraynick found himself held off to jail for contempt of court.

Jameson Memorial Hospital Facts

Twenty-five years ago your hospital sickness required 22 days—on the average. Today in your Jameson Memorial Hospital your average length of hospital illness is only 11 days. Hospital mortality is only half what it was 25 years ago. Actuaries of our insurance companies estimate that annually 1,200,000 lives are saved in the United States through good hospital service. Using the figure $6,000.00 as the actuaries' value of human life, our hospitals annually save us more than seven million dollars. Nearly 150% return on capital investment.

Quite aside from the tremendously greater value of our hospitals in relief of human suffering they merit our unlimited support as community investment.

Set Chest Goal For Campaign

Will Seek To Raise $26,000 For Community Chest In Ellwood City

CAMPAIGN WILL OCCUR IN MAY

ELLWOOD CITY, April 18.—After considering the many factors involved and the increased need for relief work during the present depression period, the directors of the Community Chest fixed the total of $26,000 as the campaign goal which will be sought during the third week in May.

The various agencies presented their requirements for the forthcoming year and the total budgets requested amounted to $32,188.66, in which nothing had been included toward payment on the building fund of the hospital.

It was the opinion of the directors that the goal should be reduced as much as possible to meet the present emergency. There is greater need for relief work now than ever before, so more money is needed.

Because there are fewer men employed in industry it was felt that there would be a shrinkage from that source.

The amount set was $26,000 and this will be divided amongst the agencies which comprise the Community Chest.

A committee of three directors was appointed to study this allocation and to report back its recommendations to the board at an early date.

James Runyan Special Guest

F. P. A. Council Honors Man Who Has Been Member For 51 Years

ELLWOOD CITY, April 18.—The Ellwood City Fraternal Patriotic American Council, No. 2, was the host to members of the New Castle and Wampum councils last night in the National Bank hall.

There was a large delegation present from both lodges.

After a delicious luncheon was disposed of the guests entertained themselves around the card tables and euche. James Runyan, who has been a member of the council for 51 years, was the guest of honor on this occasion.

The New Castle delegation was headed by District Deputy Dix and the Wampum by F. N. Miles. At a short business meeting plans were laid for another joint meeting of this type, to be held at Wampum some time in May.

The event was in charge of the Ellwood council with a committee composed of E. B. Baker, Wilbur Lersch and Jonathan Jacobs. The lunch committee was W. H. Howell, G. S. Mook and C. A. Jacobs.

Daylight Time For Ellwood City

ELLWOOD CITY, April 18.—Following the policy of other near by cities Ellwood City will go on daylight saving time on the night of April 26. This was the announcement given by Burgess Judd C. Turner, and to cooperate with the move the merchants' division of the chamber of commerce will operate their stores according to this. Also busses, trolleys, and trains will change their schedule to abide by the change in time, as will the schools.

The clocks should be set ahead one hour on Saturday night, April 25.

CARD PARTY
ELLWOOD CITY, April 18.—The auxiliary of the Sons of Veterans held their regular meeting last night in the Schweiger hall which was in the form of a card party. There was a splendid turnout and an entertaining evening was enjoyed by all.

SENIORS WIN TRACK MEET

Juniors And Sophomores Of Ellwood High Are Nosed Out

ELLWOOD CITY, April 18.—The seniors of the local high school managed to win the last few events in the inter-class track meet Friday afternoon at the Lincoln field to decisively defeat the juniors and sophomores. The freshmen were not represented.

As predicted, better results were shown at the meet when in actual competition. Mike Dunn, holder of the state 220 high hurdles record for last year, ran the 120 high in 16.4 seconds. His best time in the practice sessions was 16 seconds. Ralph Strouse and Judd Cunningham were second and third respectively.

Joe Welsh improved in the century run with 10.5 time. Strouse was second with 10 3-5. Dunn showed fine form in making the 120 low hurdles in 14 seconds flat. Pander was second.

Paul MacMurdo took the 440-yard dash with 55.2 time. Johnson and Zeigler were second and third respectively. Welsh ran the 220 in 25.4 seconds, with Sheeler coming second. MacMurdo ran the half mile in 2 minutes and 13.4 seconds, with John Lincoln second. The remainder of the meet is as follows:

100 yards: Andy Segedi 12.9 seconds; Neff 13.2; Zeigler 13.5. 200 yards: Neff 26.8; Zeigler 27.1; Pole vault, Louise Hoover 9 feet 9 inches; J. Zeigler second. High jump, Cunningham, 5 feet 6 inches; Robert Streeter second. Shot put, Sam Neff 35 feet 2 inches; Welsh second; Vogt third. Discus throw, Neff 103 feet 8 1/2 inches; Cunningham second; Vogt third. Brox jump, Neff 18 feet 2 inches; Copits second; Cavalier third.

The juniors took second place in the meet. The sophs took an early lead which they maintained by a small margin until the end of the meet, when they were nosed out.

Young People In Union Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, April 18.—Another of the union young people's meetings will be held in the First Christian church Sunday evening at 6:30, and the program will be sponsored by the young people of the Christian church. Mrs. June Adams, president of the society, will be the leader on the occasion. The gathering will be taught by representatives of the different societies.

The young people from Ellwood, Knox, North Sewickley, Wurtemburg and Slippery Rock have been invited to the meeting.

The first of these successful meetings was held in the earlier part of the year with the young people of the U. P. church sponsoring the program. According to all indications this meeting will be highly successful also.

Leaders Of Young People Meet Here

ELLWOOD CITY, April 18.—An organization meeting of the Presidents of the Young People's Society of division No. 2, of the Beaver Valley Presbytery met at the home of Miss Frances Kennedy at 517 Seventh street of this city last night.

A business meeting was held at which time important matters were discussed and was then followed by a social period which was enjoyed by all.

Those present on the occasion were the Misses Mildred Veon of Darlington, Elsie Davis of New Galilee, Virginia Redman of Steffen Hill, Beaver Falls, Fay Ballaher of Wurtemburg, Bertha Burrows of this city, and the messers James Long of Beaver Falls, Rudolph Hoffman of New Brighton, Lanctet Kennedy of Portersville, and G. A. T. Bowman.

Night Sessions In Three Schools

ELLWOOD CITY, April 18.—The Circle, Hartman, and Ewing Park Schools of this city will hold their night session as did two already on Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock. The usual policy will be carried out of having the parents come to school for the purpose of convening with the teachers in regard to the work of their children. The work will be exhibited on the walls of the schools in order that the parents may observe them. Parents are encouraged to confidentially talk the matter over with the teachers.

MARSHALL SERVICES
ELLWOOD CITY, April 18.—Funeral services for James Marshall, whose untimely death occurred when a fit of depression caused by ill health he shot himself at his home at Camp Run on Tuesday, were held at the Camp Run United Presbyterian church, yesterday afternoon. The services were in charge of the pastor, Rev. W. B. McFarland and were largely attended. The deceased was a son of the late Clinton Marshall, life long residents of this vicinity.

Internment was made in the Camp Run cemetery.

12. Lewis And Clark—Among The Mandans

INTERIOR OF MANDAN ROUND HOUSE.

DURING THE WINTER OF 1804-1805 LEWIS AND CLARK SPENT MUCH TIME IN THE SMOKY LODGES OF THE MANDANS OBSERVING THE LIFE AND CUSTOMS OF THIS INTERESTING TRIBE

UNLIKE MOST OF THE PLAINS INDIANS, THE MANDANS WERE NOT NOMADS, BUT LIVED THE GREATER PART OF THE YEAR IN PERMANENT HABITATIONS. THE BRAVES HUNTED BUFFALO AND OTHER GAME, WHILE THE SQUAWS TILLED LITTLE PATCHES OF GROUND ON WHICH THEY RAISED CORN AND BEANS.

BOTH LEWIS AND CLARK KEPT DIARIES IN WHICH, IN ADDITION TO THE HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY AND DESCRIPTIONS OF THE COUNTRY, THEY JOTTED DOWN ACCOUNTS OF THE TRIBAL CEREMONIES, DANCES, SPORTS AND HABITS OF THE INDIANS

THE EXPLORERS CARRIED ON THEIR CONVERSATIONS WITH THE MANDANS IN A ROUNDABOUT WAY. CLARK'S COLORED SERVANT, WHO COULD SPEAK FRENCH, PASSED LEWIS' WORDS ON TO CHARBONEAU AND THE BIRD WOMAN, WHO IN TURN TRANSLATED THEM INTO THE MANDAN DIALECT.

Honor Mt. Jackson Teams At Banquet

W. H. McCullough Acts As Toastmaster At Banquet
In Westfield Grange
On Friday

Homage Is Paid Members Of
Mt. Jackson Floor
Teams For Successful Season

As a fitting tribute to the members of the Mt. Jackson high school girls' and boys' basketball teams for the successful season just concluded, the teams, friends and guests gathered in the Westfield Grange on Friday night at a banquet. The affair which proved a success in every detail was attended by 68 persons.

Following a delicious and tasty supper the program was turned over to W. H. McCullough who acted as toastmaster. Mr. McCullough presided in a most pleasing manner. The first speaker was Miss Elizabeth Hillier, coach of the girls basketball team. Miss Hillier, among other things, thanked the girls for the cooperation which she received, said she appreciated being head of the girls team.

Miss Mary Daugherty who will captain next season's team was the next speaker. The new captain stated that she will endeavor to prove a good captain and will try to cooperate with Miss Hillier.

Boys Coach Speaks
Coach Ralph Spears of the boys team was the next speaker on the program. Mr. Spears described the season and stated that Mt. Jackson scored 554 points to 268 for the opponents in 23 games. The high scorer for the season was Keaney, who was followed by St. Clair. Pitzer was third with Gilmore and Daugherty following. He congratulated the boys for the successful season and thanked them for their cooperation. Prospects for a good team next year look promising.

Coach Spears pointed out that Walter Gilmore, who has been elected to captain the boys team next season was the next speaker. Gilmore stated that he will try to lead the team to the best of his ability.

Wilda Fullerton, last season's captain of the girls team was called upon for a few words. Miss Fullerton said that the sportsmanship which the girls demonstrated on the floor this season was something great. She closed by saying that she appreciated being captain of the Mt. Jackson team and wished the team next season success.

Forbie Pitzer, last season's leader of the boys team was the next speaker. Pitzer said that he was glad to have been captain of the team. He closed by predicting for the 1931-32 team a most successful season.

Miss Ruth McDowell, a member of the Mt. Jackson faculty was introduced by Toastmaster McCullough and commended the Mt. Jackson teams for the sportsmanship.

Toastmaster McCullough called on Errol Fullerton, another member of the faculty. Mr. Fullerton congratulated the players and coaches. He commended the sportsmanship of the Mt. Jackson teams.

Ray Nolte, basketball official was the next speaker on the program. Mr. Nolte complimented the team for a successful season and closed by saying that it was a pleasure to be present at the banquet.

Principal Speaks
Principal F. F. Fritz of the Mt. Jackson high school was introduced to the gathering by the toastmaster and made a short speech. Mr. Fritz also complimented the teams and commended the team work of the teams.

The final speaker of the evening was Charles Landolf, New Castle News Sports Writer.

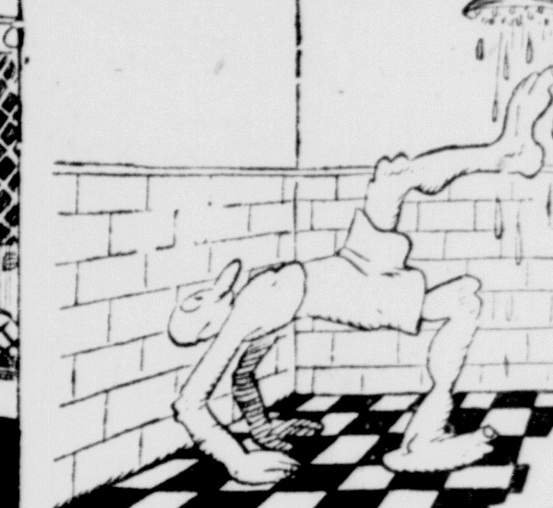

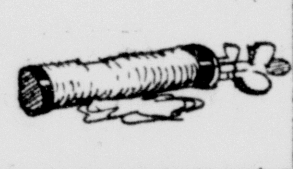

Following the speaking the guests congregated in the hall where the remainder of the evening was spent in chatting and games.

The event proved a successful one and marked the final affair for the 1930-31 Mt. Jackson basketball teams. The supper was prepared by a group of ladies of the town and was a delicious one.

Those Present
Those present at the banquet followed: R. D. Spears, Elizabeth C. Hillier, Ray J. Nolte, F. F. Fritz, Sadi May Foltz, George McCalla, Ruth Gilchrist, Judd Lamson, Lillian Patterson, Irene Metz, Grace Houlette, Errol Fullerton, Ruth L. MacDowell, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. KNUTE ROCKNES BEST STORIES

As Told By DON MILLER
One of the Famous Four Horsemen of Notre Dame

The many long trips taken each season by the Notre Dame football teams some years ago caused a sport writer to dub them the Rockne Ramblers. Their great mileage also earned another nickname—the Nomads of Notre Dame.

As a result of such extensive travel, it is necessary for the boys to study while on their way to and from the games.

After the charity game in New York last year, in which old Notre Dame players participated, a banquet was held in a Gotham hotel and Knute Rockne was one of the speakers.

In his talk Rockne touched on that phase of the college athlete's life, the necessity of his keeping abreast of his class in their studies as well as performing capably on the gridiron.

Rock spoke seriously on the subject but when he had finished what he had to say his face broke into a smile.

"There was one player at Notre Dame," he said, "who made all the football trips. He was a good football player and, of course, wherever the team went during his time at school, why he went there too."

"Well, at the end of one season, in which he had seen many strange cities and, to him, strange parts of this country, this lad figured that he had traveled 24,000 miles for Notre Dame that year.

Pirates Lose Third To Cubs

Hornsby's Homer With Two On Sacks Decides Close Game On Friday 5 To 4

VICTORY IS THIRD OF SEASON FOR CUBS

CHICAGO, April 18.—Rogers Hornsby's home run in the seventh inning with two of his team mates on the sacks resulted in a 5-4 victory for the Chicago Cubs over the Pittsburgh Pirates at Chicago on Friday afternoon. The victory was the third of the series for the Cubs.

The Pittsburgh team secured a one run lead in the second inning which it held until the sixth inning when the Cubs bunched enough hits to tally two runs. In the seventh inning Hornsby's homer, with two cushions occupied resulted in three more runs. The Pirates rallied in the eighth and ninth frames fell short one run.

Wood who held the Chicagoans in check for five innings was replaced by Bednar in the sixth. The Cubs used Bush, Sweetland, and Smith in order to procure the victory. The win was the third out of four for the Cubs.

Frushour Wins College Award

LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 18.—R. H. Frushour, of New Castle, Pa., was one of seven freshmen at Purdue University to be awarded freshman varsity numeral for his outstanding work in fencing during the season just closed. He is expected to be a strong contender for a place on the varsity squad next year.

A total of 81 insignia were awarded to varsity and freshman members of Purdue's swimming, water polo, wrestling, fencing, and gymnastic teams.

Recalls Series Between Slabtown And Sheep Hill

"Where are those olden time baseball series of some 50 years ago between Slabtown and Sheep Hill when the entire South Side turned out to witness the annual excitement and competitive battles?" Alderman J. Lee Cooper, the 74 year old "squire" of the South Side asked this morning while discussing baseball with the writer. Cooper, who claims he was a great ball player in the days of the "in shoot" and "out shoot" told several recollections of his baseball career.

The series was an annual affair and victory for either team meant a successful season. Cooper and his brother Joe composed the battery for the Sheep Hill nine. The Alderman was the pitcher while his brother was the catcher. Cooper stated that before the battles, his brother and he would get together and try to scheme a way to fool the batsmen of the Slabtown team.

"Who won a majority of the series?" Alderman Cooper was asked. "If my memory is correct we came through victorious in the majority of series" the alderman said. The squire also remembers the time when he pitched with the Springfield City team. Springfield at that time was noted for its whiskey, the squire said.

Although the game was slower than today, Alderman Cooper thinks that the game was more exciting in those days. James Crum another old timer who is 66 years of age, was present to see that the alderman did not exaggerate, and he stated that he can still picture the annual series. Crum was a member of the Slabtown team. Crum admitted this morning that Cooper had a fairly good drop and an inspoet that fooled many of them in those days.

NEW YORK, April 18.—"I got rhythm" will be the theme song for sixteen sturdy oarsmen here this evening when the Navy and Columbia eights usher in the Eastern Intercollegiate rowing season with a dual regatta on the Harlem river. While the distance is only a mile and a half, a mere sprint in comparison to the four-mile grind at Poughkeepsie, today's race will furnish the first line of chances of the two crews in the Hudson river classic in June. Navy and Columbia, together with the Washington varsity which administered a crushing defeat to California a week ago at Oakland, will be leading threats this year to Cornell's newly-restored rowing supremacy.

The Navy-Columbia duel this evening will be more than a boat race. It will be a battle of wits between father and son. Rich Glendon, the Columbia coach, is the son of old Dick Glendon, the famous Navy mentor who has developed three Poughkeepsie winners and one Olympic champion.

Rowing is Columbia's most important sport, and blue and white adherents are all hot and bothered about the outcome of today's race. Columbia is a slight favorite, but the Navy's big crew, averaging 183 pounds, will take a lot of beating. Herby Clugh, No. 4 in the Columbia shell, is laid up by illness, but Ed Loefer, his understudy, is a capable substitute, having rowed on the varsity last year.

On the Navy eight are four men who rowed at Poughkeepsie last June, including Stroke Howard Shelton, a big, long swinging Kentuckian.

Ball Yard Banter

Failure of the old Sally league to make plans for another campaign this season ends the career of this famous minor circuit which flourished for 26 years. Founded in 1904 the Sally kept going until this year. It was temporarily abandoned in 1918, the last year of the World War which finished the old Central, the original Three-1 and some other minor groups.

But the Sally bobbed up again in 1919 and went on, as strong as ever. Then it seemed as though it would go on forever.

Many big league stars came up from the Sally. A few were Ty Cobb, Lloyd Waner, Goose Goslin, Rube Benton, Shoeless Joe Jackson, George Pipgrass, Kiki Cuyler, Wilcy Moore, George Whitted, Gabby Street, Al Lopez and Aaron Ward.

Present-day youngsters, such as Dusty Cooke, Ben Chapman, Dale Alexander, Eric McNair, Lance Richbourg and Russ Scarritt also wore Sally suits.

Not a few of the old-time stars now forgotten by most baseball followers, played in the Sally at various times. Some of them were Bugs Raymond, Nap Rucker, Al Nixon, Mike Mowery and Al Demaree.

The league began as a six club affair. During its career it had clubs in 16 different cities.

Greenville won the last Sally championship by nosing out Macon last year. Strangely enough, it was Macon which won the first flag played for by Sally clubs back in 1904.

Rumor Of Merger Of Rubber Firms

Rumor Good Year Tire & Rubber Company Will Merge
With United States Rubber

(International News Service)
AKRON, O., April 18.—Two gigantic Rubber Company mergers were rumored unofficially in financial circles here today.

One of the reports said that Good-year Tire & Rubber company will merge with United States Rubber company, forming the world's largest rubber corporation which would have factories in all parts of the world and an annual sales volume of $500,000,000.

Besides numerous rubber plantations and Cotton Fabric Mills, the merged company would own the largest Zeppelin factory and hangar in the world.

Paul W. Litchfield, president of Goodyear, was out of the city today and no confirmation nor denial of the rumors could be obtained. He was reported to be in the east conferring with U. S. Rubber company officials.

The recent sweeping wage cut at the Goodyear plant was said to have been one of the preliminary steps in expected merger of the giant concerns.

The other rumor was to the effect that B. F. Goodrich Company is planning to obtain stock control of the General Tire & Rubber Company, one of the most consistently prosperous in this district. General recently announced its 61st consecutive stock dividend.

First Detour Map Of Season Issued

Few Red Marks Noted On Detour Bulletin Of State Highway System

Few detours are in existence throughout the state, according to the first detour map of the season, which was issued today by the State Highway Department.

In all, there are but twenty-four detours in the state for the week ending April 23, 1931. Most of these are for only a fraction of a mile.

During the coming summer, road information will be broadcast over fifteen radio stations in the state, adding to the information service of the department.

These Detour Bulletins, as they are issued by the department will be kept posted in the lobby of The News.

Dr. C. G. Farr, district superintendent will go to Sharon to fill the Oakland pulpit in the exchange.

JARRETT DENIES HE SEEKS OFFICE

FARRELL, Pa., April 18.—Hon. Benjamin Jarrett, prominent Farrell attorney, announced today there was no foundation to the statement that he was to be a candidate for the office of Mayor of Farrell. "I stated that some time ago that I was not a candidate, and I have not changed my mind," said the attorney this morning.

Progress: Making houses air tight; inventing a machine to suck in fresh, moist air.

HUDSON-ESSEX DEALERS NAMED

Castle Garage Of South Mercer Street Appointed
Dealers Here

Announcement is made today by L. B. Reinhart and R. S. Rubenson of the Castle Garage, 36-40 South Mercer street, that they have been appointed Hudson-Essex dealers for New Castle and vicinity.

Many changes have taken place at the Castle Garage during the past week in putting various departments in first class shape to render real service to the motoring public. A spacious showroom for the display of new cars has also been provided.

L. B. Reinhart has had nine years experience in the automobile business while R. S. Rubenson was formerly connected with a local shoe store for ten years. Both men are well known in New Castle.

The public is invited to visit the Castle showroom and to inspect the new Hudson and Essex models now on display.

Ounces Of Heroin In Philadelphia

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, April 18.—Philip Quintana, New York, and Joseph Parizio, Brooklyn, charged by federal narcotic agents with attempting to open a distributing station for "dope" peddling in this city, were held on bond today pending further investigation.

One of the largest seizures of "dope" here in recent years was taken by the federal agents at the time of the arrest. Twenty-one ounces of heroin was seized.

Six Thugs Shoot Wealthy Gambler

Chicago West Side Wealthy
Gambler Is Shot While
In Automobile

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
CHICAGO, April 18.—A gang of six thugs, operating into cars, shot and perhaps mortally wounded George Turner, wealthy West Side gambler, early today.

A negro garage attendant who was riding with Turner in the latter's car was slightly wounded in the attack near Turner's home.

Police viewed the shooting as a renewal of gambling wars.

Princeton Trims East Brook, 3-2

Aided by the good pitching of V. Shaffer and Lapinsky, the strong Princeton high school baseball team captured its second victory of the season on Friday afternoon when it toppled the East Brook high representatives by a 3-2 count on the Princeton field.

Princeton tallied its three runs in the initial inning. East Brook crossed the rubber in two instances in the sixth frame. East Brook secured two hits while Princeton was able to find S. Schuller for three bingles.

Local Girl Returns With Geneva Group

Miss Dorothy Jean Wallace, 202 East Leasure avenue, student at Geneva College, was one of 31 girls' glee club singers of the school who returned to Beaver Falls this week from a ten-day tour during which they gave concerts in Philadelphia, New York and Atlantic City. This is the third successive year the club has made the tour.

Miss Wallace was a high honor student in her graduating class from the New Castle high school in 1928.

VALUABLE BARN IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., April 18.—Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed a dairy barn on the Mrs. Carl Miller farm, two miles west of Slippery Rock, early last night, entailing a loss estimated at $10,000. Valuable title was saved by the quick work of H. A. Close, tenant on the place.

Mr. Close was doing the evening milking when he discovered the fire and spread the alarm. Work of volunteer firemen saved other buildings from becoming ignited.

Miss Ruth Nichols—FASTEST FEMALE FLYER

Ruth Nichols sets NEW women's speed record using AMOCO products

TO the many laurels she has won in the past, Miss Nichols has now added the air speed record for women.

Taking off from Grosse Isle Airport, she covered the measured three-kilometer course at a speed of better than 210 miles per hour—29 miles per hour better than the previous women's record.

As in her previous record-breaking achievements, Miss Nichols used Amoco products exclusively. Amoco-Gas (Aviation Grade) enabled her to fly her super-charged motor wide open at the low altitude at which the record was made—while Amoco Motor Oils and Greases provided faultless lubrication.

Amoco Products will serve you just as faithfully and well in your automobile as they are serving Miss Nichols in the air. For the best of results—and the greatest economy—make it Amoco all the way!

NEW YORK STOCKS Stocks Are Unsettled In Short Session Today

By W. S. COUSINS

International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, April 18.—Stocks were again unsettled in the short session today by the weakness of a few specialties which have been under fire for the last few days.

Auburn Auto fell 37 points to a new low at 199, down 74 points from yesterday's high price, but speculative interest in this stock is confined to a narrow circle of professional traders.

The week-end trade reviews were not so encouraging and the government's compilation of March wholesale commodity prices showed a larger decline than had been anticipated.

Retail trade is holding up well in important centers and automobile production is looking up.

Outside of the fast moving specialties, the market remained steady, with a better demand for the Railroad and Copper stocks.

Fractional railroads were recorded in the second hour in a number of the Utility favorites, including American Waterworks, National Power and Light, Consolidated Gas and Public Service, American and Foreign Power.

Wheat sold more than a cent a bushel higher and the Cotton market was firm in the short session.

New York Commodity markets showed little change and trading was dull in all markets.

Bonds settled down to a slightly lower price level.

Industrial stocks as a whole were not affected by the collapse of Auburn and Industrial Rayon, since in both cases pool manipulation is believed to have been the main factor behind their sensational advances.

Auburn reached its peak for the present move on Monday of this week, at 295 1/2, and today's price was exactly 100 points lower.

Wall Street heard that the Cord interests were disposing of a block of 20,000 shares, recently purchased, but it was impossible to check the accuracy of the flood of rumors which poured into the brokers' offices while the stock was dropping another 40 points.

The Motors and Utilities were the leaders in a slight rally near the close.

Wheat sold more than a cent a bushel higher and the Cotton market was firm in the short session.

New York Commodity markets showed little change and trading was dull in all markets.

Bonds settled down to a slightly lower price level.

Industrial stocks as a whole were not affected by the collapse of Auburn and Industrial Rayon, since in both cases pool manipulation is believed to have been the main factor behind their sensational advances.

Auburn reached its peak for the present move on Monday of this week, at 295 1/2, and today's price was exactly 100 points lower.

Wall Street heard that the Cord interests were disposing of a block of 20,000 shares, recently purchased, but it was impossible to check the accuracy of the flood of rumors which poured into the brokers' offices while the stock was dropping another 40 points.

The Motors and Utilities were the leaders in a slight rally near the close.

Pennsy Will Add 25 New Trackmen

Division's M. Of W. Forces To Be Enlarged, Announcement Says

Determined to provide employment where there is opportunity to do so, in line with the Pennsylvania railroad's system-wide employment policy, the Erie & Ashabula divisional offices here today announced that an additional force of 25 men would be placed to work by its maintenance of way department on Monday.

The workmen were being called in this morning and their duties outlined to them, preparatory to starting work early Monday. Officials said not say definitely how long the additional force would be maintained, but indicated they will keep the men busy for several weeks at least.

At the present time a force of nearly 90 workers is relaying 20 miles of rail along the division's New Castle to Erie right-of-way. The new force will follow up the rail layers, re-lining and re-surfacing the roadbed and ties where such must be done.

Only a short time ago the railroad added 15 New Castle district men to the rail-laying gang. Monday's addition will be the second since the improvement work began here.

Reports reaching offices here Friday afternoon when the rail laying halted for the week as is customary, showed that considerable progress has been made. The track outfit is in the Pulaski district and pushing rapidly ahead.

All of the men who were called back today, to commence work Monday when operations are resumed, will be drawn from the New Castle district, officials said.

NEW YORK, April 18.—"Backbone is all the business man needs to combat gangsters," says Police Commissioner Mulrooney.

And by the same token, if every public official were doing the work the people are paying them to do, there wouldn't be any gangster problem.

THE ORACLE OF CICERO

In this connection read what America's super-gangster has to say on that subject:

"There's one thing worse than a crook," opines Al Capone, "and that is a crooked man in a big political job. Any man that pretends he is enforcing the law and is really taking 'dough' from some body who is breaking the law. Even a self-respecting hood (hoodlum) hasn't any use for that kind of fellow. The hood buys them like he would any other article necessary in his trade; but he hates them in his heart."

EFFICIENCY

Brother Woodcock, the Prohibition Feller, avows the intention of "trying to make a V-neck law enforcement more human."

When you read a thing like that your first reaction is resentment at being kidded. Then you take a look at Brother Woodcock's picture and the realization forces itself that he isn't kidding. He's serious. And it is his ability to pull the stuff like that that enables him to hold his job.

HAM AND PEANUTS

Old Dave Warfield lolls back in his palatial home on Central Park West and dabbles in dreams of yesterday. And like most men, on their way down the far side of the Slope, nearing the shadows, he wags a dolorous head and says: "Life isn't what it used to be."

Warfield who is in the major sixties says he'll never return to the stage.

"Why should I?" he asks. "I've got my bag of peanuts. I don't want any more."

It may seem a "bag of peanuts" to him; but with his really hold-ings and all, it shapes up more in the nature of a whole peanut-stand—whistle and all.

Warfield, as an actor, was much overrated. His work embraced much of that mediocrity which, on the authority of Thackeray, always insures success.

Senator King Predicts More Trouble In Spain Before Peace Returns

Widely Traveled Senator Does Not See Much Effect From King Alfonso's Overthrow Upon Other Old World Governments

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Senator William H. King of Utah, in the closest contact—through travel and personal observation—of all lawmakers in Washington with the interplay of European political influences, does not look to see much effect from King Alfonso's overthrow upon other world governments.

The surviving monarchies in England, Belgium and Scandinavia, he points out, already are more democratic than the average republic. Italy he sees as more in Mussolini's hands than its King's. Balkan royalists he does not, indeed consider by any means secure on their thrones, but such developments as may conceivably result at almost any time in the enforced retirement of one or another of them will, he believes, arise from causes nearer home than from Spanish contagion.

The senator is not hopeful, however, that Spain will settle down to peaceful republicanism without considerable further friction and possibly bloodshed among warring factions.

"Moreover," he suggests, "the very necessity for the maintenance of order in the present crisis seems likely to bring to the front some strong man of the Republican group who—to uphold what he regards as republican principles—may justify himself in a resort to methods as dictatorial as Spain has known under its crowned rulers."

Senator King accurately recalls that Spanish monarchism has been tottering for years on what has appeared like the extreme verge of revolution. As a European correspondent I visited Madrid and Barcelona as long ago as 1909, during the revolt which ended with the execution of the then celebrated radical Francisco Ferrer, its leader.

While that particular uprising was crushed, to be sure, as good an authority as Alejandro Lerroux, who holds the portfolio of foreign affairs in the present Zamora provisional Republican government, told me it was a question of only a little time before a republic would be established.

Perhaps it is noteworthy that Miguel Maura, now Provisional President Zamora's minister of the interior, is a son of Antonio Maura the premier who insisted upon Ferrer's execution in the face of pleas for mercy from liberals throughout the world—for Ferrer's reputation was international and his popularity immense among advanced thinkers.

Admonishes Fathers To Have Closer Relations With Sons

"Answer Questions Naturally," Speaker Declares At Father-Son Dinner

Tells Boys To Live Moral Life—Roosevelt Family Pointed As Ideal

"Our boys need models more than they need critics," declared Rev. Clarence J. Williamson, pastor of the Highland United Presbyterian church at the annual father-son dinner of the Y. M. C. A. in the association's dining hall last night. Rev. Williamson, the chief speaker on the occasion, admonished fathers in the gathering to aim for a closer relationship with their sons, adding:

"You were a boy before your son—you know in general what your boy will have to meet."

Elaborating on his subject: "Is the Young Man Safe?" the minister told the assemblage of over 100 fathers and their sons that a closer understanding between father and son is a vital necessity in this modern age. As an answer to the question of his address topic the speaker emphasized that the safety of the boy's future rested on education of the boy and the example set before him by his father.

"Answer questions naturally and specifically," Williamson said in the first part of his address, which was aimed as a message to the fathers. "Show just how temptation will come to him and how he may meet it."

In his message to the boys the speaker pointed out that the man should make the best of life while he is able.

"Remember you have only one life to live and if you make a failure of it you will never have another chance. Think what you want to be and then will it. Try to be the best you can for yourself, your family, your neighbor and your God. No boy is safe who plays foolishly with his body, with his life, with his father and with his God."

At the outset of his message to the parents Williamson declared that fathers are wont to criticize their children instead of making an effort to serve as some kind of model to them. A closer companionship—one that will be recalled by the boy in his later life was urged.

Life of the father in the home was said by the speaker to have the greatest appeal to the son in later life. Recollections of the parent by the son are always about the parent's actions in the home, the minister said. He pointed to the exemplary domestic life of Theodore Roosevelt, who proved himself a real pal to his children even while beset with important business of state.

Heber Baldwin was the toastmaster at the annual affair. Rev. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church delivered the invocation. A speech of welcome was made by Frank Baldwin. The response for the parents was made by Ed Gatrall. R. E. Johns led in pep singing.

LOOKING BACK IN NEW CASTLE

The flood of 1913, when the Shenango river, Neshannock creek, Mahoning river, Big Run creek and in fact every stream, big or little, due to the heavy rains experienced at that time, simply had to overflow their banks and flood large areas of the city, also the surrounding low lying districts, is within the memory of thousands of residents of the city.

Those who did reside here at the time will remember how there was water almost everywhere, how wild rumors of this disaster and that catastrophe went the rounds, the electric plant had to cease operations, also the street cars, trains, the newspapers, in fact every form of activity.

The city was shut off from communication with the outer world, except for an occasional telephone line, an occasional car on the Harmony interurban line and those in the higher outlying districts, who had means of transportation. There was a fear of a shortage of food supplies, because of the fact that supply centers of the district were also suffering from floods and shipments could not be sent out, even had the transportation facilities of that time been able to get the stuff through.

Hundreds of people were marooned in the second floors of their homes in the First ward district and the Mahoning avenue district. The fact that there was but one fatality is miraculous, that being a police officer drowned in the Mahoning and Prestop avenue district, while in a boat that had been carrying people marooned in their homes in those districts to points of greater safety.

Boating was the principal activity for several days during this March flood and boats were seen plying on Washington street at the public square and throughout the First ward and Mahoning avenue districts. This in itself was a dangerous proposition due to the terrific currents that developed at many places, which made the going hard and difficult.

Bridges along the Shenango river were washed down stream, including the Grant street, old Black Bridge, Franklin Railroad bridge and Gardner avenue bridge.

While the city had experienced bad floods prior to that time, it was without doubt the most disastrous and destructive of any that ever occurred here. It is to be hoped that the city may never have another experience such as this.

Tomorrow—a trip by canal boat that took as long as a trip to New York or Chicago now takes and was only twenty miles long.

New Charges Filed Against Ray Thomas

Mahoning County Prosecutor Accused Of Receiving Loot

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 18.—Serious charges involving moral turpitude are made against County Prosecutor Ray Thomas by the five common pleas judges of Mahoning county in a journal entry filed late today.

One is that he tried several years ago to sell for his own purpose $8,000 in stolen bonds which he had received, another charges that he forced officials of the Central Savings and Loan company, now in receivership, to pay him $20,000 which he had deposited with the company, giving him preference over other creditors.

The judges also link Thomas with Harry Engle, former city traction commissioner, in other alleged criminal offenses. It is declared by the judges that Thomas knew the bonds which he tried to sell, were stolen or embezzled.

Foster's Weather Forecast

WASHINGTON, April 18.—As storm wave of moderate force, expected to cross continent during week centering on 16, moves eastward, warmest period of month is expected to cover North America, lasting four or five days; this storm wave is expected to move down to northern cotton belt, a little farther south than the average storm wave of this time of year. Following storm wave centering on 16, a moderate cold wave will move a little farther south than usual centering on 22, but will not be expected to do material damage where planting has not been done unreasonably early; during this cool wave south and cold wave north, precipitation will be general and above normal for the continent. While my general forecast calls for early Spring planting this season, those using such advice must also consider conditions the average Spring brings to their locality and not plant too early for

Return Verdict In Favor Of William Wignall In Case Brought By Subers

After spending all night in the jury room and until about 10 o'clock this morning a jury in the case of Elmer J. Suber and Ida Suber, his wife against William Wignall, returned a verdict in favor of the defendant.

The case was tried before Judge Chambers. According to the testimony Mrs. Suber had been suffering from something like neuritis in one arm and went to Wignall for treatment. She claimed that in giving her treatment he had wrenched her arm and that she was worse afterwards.

Wignall claimed that the treatment which he had given Mrs. Suber was the same as he regularly employed in such cases, and that he did all he could to help her.

The case was given to the jury about 5 o'clock Friday afternoon. After being out all night the jury came in for further instructions this morning. About 10 o'clock it was reported that a verdict had been reached and after it had been taken by Judge Chambers the jury was dismissed.

The jury was composed of the following persons: William Hampton, Ellwood City; Mollie Hughes, second ward; Elizabeth Hill, second ward; Ella W. Howard, third ward; Alice DeDevi, Ellwood City; Archie Smith, Mahoning; Rachael Wineman, Wayne; Nannie Hunt, Slippery Rock; Charles L. Vasseur, seventh ward; James Birt, sixth ward; Floyd Young, Little Beaver; Harry Gregor, fifth ward.

Some of the jurors looked a little weary after their long night in the jury room, but all seemed disposed to treat the matter good naturedly.

Driver Was Drunk, Manslaughter Charge

WHEELING, W. Va., April 18.—A jury empaneled by Coroner Walter Morrison returned a verdict that Killian Gross, 38, was drunk at the time his automobile struck and killed Mrs. Sue Dixon, 59, here last week. The state's case was based almost solely on the testimony of a 12-year-old boy, Ray Beaver, an eyewitness.

Immediate after the inquest Gross waived hearing a charge of manslaughter and was held to the next grand jury in default of $5,000 bond. Previously he had been sentenced to serve six months in jail for operating a vehicle while under the influence of liquor.
